'Go Easy on The Butter, Kids'

There is an old story out of my boyhood about butter.

A church school teacher was seeking to interest her pupils in grace before meals. "Tommy," she asked, by way of beginning her talk, "does your father say anything before you begin meals at your house?"

"He sure does," said Tommy. "What does he say," beamed teacher.

"Well," said Tommy, "he glares hard at us and says, 'Go easy on the butter, kids, it's 60 cents a pound.'"

The story is applicable now because, come spring, all signs point to the American housewife, queen of the male pocket-book, being able to trundle her wire basket about the supermarkets and fill it with butter at bargain prices — perhaps 45 or 50 cents per pound. Just yesterday the harassed secretary of agriculture, Ezra Taft Benson, cut butter about eight cents per pound. That's a start.

Markets

The government, which has bought millions of pounds of butter at 63 cents, and which is buying more each month, must dispose of it before the spring milk flood begins when cows get to new grass. When the lush grazing begins red cows, brown cows, black and white cows — all begin to eat green grass and quickly produce greater quantities of white milk, which is churned into yellow butter.

And, since Uncle Sam will buy much of the new supply, he must make room for it.

One plan under consideration is to sell stocks to grocers at a price which would enable them to retail it at 50 cents per pound. This also would enable the government to sell to Russia, which is the only country now wanting butter, at 50 cents the pound. Still other plans have been suggested to move the spread out of storage and onto the butter-plates, but they are not yet revealed.

There will be, without fail, butter surplus, along with other vast amounts of commodities such as vegetable oils, wheat, cotton, and corn, are the chief domestic headache in White House circles.

They feel the surpluses can be turned into an asset only if they can bring public opinion around to accepting free trade, including, even, barter deals with the Russians and the Soviet bloc. The administration doesn't yet want to broach this subject, but it must if there is to be peace. Trade will replace war.

Surpluses

Secretary of Commerce Weeks has refused to sell the Russians butter and vegetable oils "for money." What we would like to do is trade farm surpluses for critical metals.

This country has been buying from the Russians and their bloc all the while some of our people have been hypocritically denouncing the British for trade with China in non-strategic materials. We need chrome and manganese ores in great supply, along with other metals which we have never possessed or which we have depleted.

If we could move farm surpluses into world trade without breaking the export or domestic market, the sales would serve as a specific for the present White House headache.

The administration needs to break the log jam in the river of surplus products. It is almost necessary to do so.

If the administration can sell its flexible price program in 1955 (there is no chance in 1954), it can then proceed to weed out what it classifies as the "inefficient" farmers. These people vote. So, no person has said there are about 1,000,000 "surplus farmers" on the fringe subsistence level, who must be moved into industry. It sounds simple. But for the individual farmer it is roughly the same painful bit of news as telling a small manufacturer to get into something else because it makes more sense to buy his product from a foreign country which makes it better—and cheaper.

And during the present recession, thousands of laid-off workers are drifting back to these inefficient farms.

Economics — which to the average man means merely bread and meat—are never simple.

School Tax Rise Urged For DeKalb

Grand Jury Asks Assessment Boost

By BERT SPENCER

The DeKalb County Grand Jury yesterday "demanded" that county tax assessors raise property tax assessments to prevent what it termed a school financing crisis this year.

Earlier yesterday, the State Board of Education announced it had received a request from DeKalb School Supt. Jim Cherry for special state aid in the school system's "dangerously under-financed situation" that was investigated by a committee of the grand jury.

The December term jury, in special presentations, suggested that a raise in assessments to provide a larger tax digest for school levies should be accompanied by a "proportionate reduction" of general tax rates.

The reduction would keep the revenue for general county operation at its present level, the jury said.

The December term jury, in special presentations, suggested that a raise in assessments to provide a larger tax digest for school levies should be accompanied by a "proportionate reduction" of general tax rates.

CUTS FEARED

If the additional funds are not provided, the jury warned, DeKalb schools "will be faced with operating a shorter term of operation with less than the minimum number of teachers required for accreditation, curtailed school bus transportation and reduced maintenance."

The "crisis" in school financing, brought on by a large annual increase in pupil enrollment, has been noted by previous grand juries "without noticeable results," the jury said.

"We have no doubt about the willingness of DeKalb citizens to pay on the same basis as the citizens of DeKalb and other adjoining sections for the education of their children," the presentments said. "In fact, no official by failing to perform his legal duty should deny him that right."

In calling on the tax assessors to raise assessments, the jury pointed out that present taxes are levied on 50 per cent of 1941 building values established by a recent property survey.

'FAIR MARKET VALUE'

The jury said this puts assessments at about 25 per cent of present market values, and fails to comply with the law that requires assessments at "just and fair market value."

Because of the low assessments and the homestead exemption, the jury said, the county school system currently can raise only $58.97 in local funds per child per year. It compared this to local per child per year supports of $97.73 in DeKalb, $118.99 in Fulton County and $147.36 in Atlanta.

In reviewing the tax bills on 20,119 properties in 1953, the jury said, it found that 7,903 paid no school operating taxes, 3,825 paid an average of $4.35 each, 3,169 paid $12.06, 1,656 paid $20.91, and 3,566 paid $49.64.

The state school board took no action on Cherry's request for state aid, but noted that DeKalb and Cobb counties are encountering the worst of such financing situations over the state.

Critics of Warren Given Deadline

WASHINGTON, Feb. 15 (AP)—A Senate judiciary subcommittee today set Wednesday midnight as the deadline for critics of Earl Warren to file objections to his nomination as U.S. Chief Justice.

OUR VIRGIN ISLAND

By ROBB WHITE
CHAPTER III

It had a name, Marina Cay (pronounced key). For the rest of the afternoon we explored it.

I liked the way it was protected on the Atlantic side from the wind and sea and how the chain of southern islands would break the enormous waves of a hurricane before they could strike this little island. I liked the sheltered bay. Liked the coral reef for the way it protected our beach and its promise of food.

Rodie, who knows about such things, liked the soil she found under the rocks, and the flat top of the island, which would be an ideal place for a house. She liked the blooming frangipani trees, the banyan, and the wild grapes.

Butter Support Is Cut; 8-Ct. Price Drop Seen

WASHINGTON, Feb. 15 (AP)—Agriculture Secretary Benson today slashed dairy support prices to the lowest level permitted by law and estimated it will mean an 8-cent-a-pound cut in retail butter prices.

The move brought protests from most dairy state congressmen. But Chairman George D. Aiken (R-Vt.) of the Senate Agriculture Committee supported the action and Sen. Clinton P. Anderson (D-NM) called it "a very good step in the right direction . . . CUT TO 75 PCT."

Benson announced at a news conference that government price supports on butter, cheese and dried milk will drop from 90 per cent of the so-called "fair price" parity to 75 per cent April 1.

He said dollars-and-cents support levels will be announced later, but "housewives can count on about an 8-cent-a-pound drop in butter."

Benson also said he "hopes" to be able to announce "before too long" a plan to dispose of some of the more than $350,000,000 worth of surplus dairy products piled up in government warehouses under the support program.

AVERAGE 65 CTS.

The government now buys butter on the Chicago market for an average of about 65¢, cents a pound. Benson estimated a drop to about 56¢ cents a pound at the 75 per cent figure and predicted that most of the saving would be passed on to the consumer.

The move would cut average support prices on cheese from 37 cents to 31½ cents and on dried skimmed milk from 16 to 14½ cents a pound.

The last time dairy supports were as low as 75 per cent of parity was from 1938 to mid-1941. The government now owns 270,558,320 pounds of butter, 282,040,254 pounds of cheese, and 469,558,981 pounds of dried milk.

Tuttle Report Draws Threat From Solon

WASHINGTON, Feb. 15—Rep. Sieminski has threatened to kill anyone who suggests his loyalty might be questionable because his stepdaughter was for seven years behind the Iron Curtain until she broke out on Christmas Day, 1953.

The dramatic story was disclosed in part today in published

WASHINGTON, Feb. 15 (AP). Agriculture Secretary Benson has told Congress at least one active Communist was among the 2,200 federal workers reported fired under the Eisenhower administration's new security program.

Benson's Feb. 3 testimony was made public today by a House appropriations subcommittee. Benson did not identify the employee.

hearings on the House Appropriations Subcommittee dealing with a Treasury Department bill. How she escaped will never be told, Sieminski said.

Sieminski (D-NJ), who was elected to Congress while on active duty in Korea, charged that President Eisenhower's current security order is "vicious, totalitarian, un-American."

The dispute came as Elbert P. Tuttle of Georgia, Treasury Department general counsel, reported on security check dismissals.

The Treasury Department spokesman said that out of 130 "security" dismissals or forced resignations in the department during 1953, four were found to be "disloyal persons" under standards which have since been scrapped.

Tuttle said there is no way of comparing security dismissals under the Eisenhower administration with those under the Truman administration because "the

Senate Votes Alteration in Treaty Row

WASHINGTON, Feb. 15 (UP)—

The Senate began voting today on the hotly disputed Bricker amendment and promptly approved a GOP-sponsored compromise proposal to nullify treaties and executive agreements that conflict with the Constitution.

The 62-20 vote came on one of the less controversial proposals sponsored by the Republican leaders in an effort to find a version acceptable both to the administration and Sen. John W. Bricker (R-Ohio). It also is part of a compromise sponsored by Sen. Walter F. George (D-Ga.).

GEORGE'S WARNING

The voting began as George warned the Senate to accept his compromise or face in the future even more restrictive proposals to curb the President's treaty-making powers.

The Bricker constitutional amendment, as approved by the Senate Judiciary Committee, carried a provision asserting that a treaty "which conflicts with this Constitution shall not be of any force and effect." By its vote today, the Senate included executive agreements.

The vote, however, was not considered a test of strength between Bricker's supporters and administration backers who are trying to water down his original amendment.

HOW THEY VOTED

Thirty-six Republicans and 26 Democrats voted for the change. Only two Republicans joined 17 Democrats and Sen. Wayne L. Morse (Ind-Ore) in voting against it.

The change was one of three sponsored by the Senate GOP leadership.

George voiced his warning in debate with Sen. Thomas C. Hennings (D-Mo.), who contended that the George proposal would "work a most grievous weakening of the rights of the 48 states to protect themselves against federal encroachment."

The George proposal would specify that an international executive agreement, as distinct from a treaty, could not become internal law without an act of Congress.

But George told the Senate "You will go as far as I've suggested, or at an early date you will go much further, because the American people do understand this issue."

Mob Lynchs 2 After Storming Jail, Rio Hears

RIO DE JANEIRO, Brazil, Feb. 15 (AP)—A mob of 500 reportedly stormed the jail in the town of Natividade de Carangola yesterday and lynched two prisoners accused of killing a local truck driver in a robbery. One member of the mob was killed by jail guards during the assault.

Press reports published in Rio de Janeiro newspapers, said the two victims were beaten and shot. The ears of both men were cut off—the same mutilation suffered by the truck driver, Sebastiao Rocha, whom they were accused of killing last December.

The two lynched men were identified as Jacylaraju and Eli Sinfioro.

2 at Blind Academy Cleared as Move to Ban Whippings Fails

Restrictions Placed on Punishment

By M. L. ST. JOHN

The State Board of Education yesterday voted to retain Supt. F. G. Nelms and Principal Robert Long at the Georgia Academy for the Blind, and also decided to continue corporal punishment at the schools for the blind and deaf.

The board's action was taken on recommendation of state and local committees which investigated the beating of a 12-year-old student at the blind school at Macon a month ago. The committees said they found no "brutal intent" on the part of the school leaders.

Paul Barrett, director of vocational rehabilitation, who headed the investigation, told the board he felt "it would be a serious mistake to dismiss these two men because of the recent unpleasantness." He said the school has suffered in the past because of frequent changes of administrators. The state and local committees lauded the administration of Nelms and Long.

VOTE IS FOUR TO FIVE

Board Chairman George Whitman Jr. failed by a vote of 5 to 4 to get the board to outlaw corporal punishment in the two special schools. He said:

"I am opposed to returning to the lash in education when we have found that we can control hardened criminals without the use of whips." Whitman said he would move to ban corporal punishment at each of the 10 remaining meetings of the board he attends.

Corporal punishment will be somewhat restricted at the special schools under the board's resolution.

It says: "No corporal punishment shall be performed at these institutions, except in special cases and only when preceded by deliberation between supervisor and superintendent or principal. Punishment should always be thought of in terms of treatment, the purpose of which is to change attitude as well as conduct. Absolute fairness should be maintained. No corporal punishment shall be administered except in the presence of a supervisor or teacher."

REASSURE PARENTS

Board member Henry Blount of Waynesboro said that the board's order a month ago temporarily suspending corporal punishment in the two special schools had been misunderstood and caused

DID THE RING FIT? FILES RIFLED, HE SAYS

Fund, $5,000 Diamond Hurlled at Roosevelt

By LEE FERRERO

Attorneys for Romelle, 38, fighting to nail down her claims for $3,500 monthly alimony and child support, hurled these two legal grenades at Jimmy in Pasadena Superior Court:

1. They introduced a letter from attorney John K. Sloan detailing that he was holding the fund in trust for Irene Owens, and sought to impeach Jimmy's earlier testimony on the fund.

The hearing adjourned at 7 p.m. (Atlanta time) after a spicy afternoon session in which James charged his wife rifled his office safe and stole "many valuable documents."

The hearing will resume at 1 p.m. tomorrow. The letter from Sloan on the trust fund read:

"I am holding in trust for Irene Owens in my trust account No. 2002 in the Seventh and Olive Streets Branch of the Bank of America the sum of $2,500. I shall pay all or any portion of this amount to the same Irene Owens on demand. John K. Sloan."

PIECED TOGETHER

The letter, pieced together after having been torn to bits, was enclosed in plastic.

Arthur Schifferman, attorney for Mrs. Roosevelt, drew from Roosevelt earlier that Roosevelt maintained a trust fund, but James said from the witness stand:

"It was a trust fund I kept to safeguard my possessions which I felt were being tampered with. I gave the money to Sloan for safekeeping."

Mrs. Roosevelt's attorneys said they were entering the letter as evidence of "impeachment to show self-contradictory statements." Roosevelt would not change his original stand on the fund, and drew a respite when the court recessed for lunch.

Testimony on the $5,000 ring created the first sensation at the resumption of the hearing, and Roosevelt's attorney, Samuel B.

Laos' French Turn 2-Prong Rebel Attack

SAIGON, Indochina, Feb. 15 (AP)—

French forces beat off a fierce two-pronged Vietminh attack eight miles north of imperiled Luang Prabang today. Military observers said the Red invasion force appeared to be moving in for an assault on the royal Laotian capital.

The Union command said troops were rushed north from the Luang Prabang garrison to block a Vietminh battalion which slipped across the Mekong River and stabbed at the French defenses. The communists said the Reds were thrown back after fierce fighting marked by losses on both sides.

Northeast of the capital a second Red force swept down through the Suong River Valley below Pak-sung and tried to pierce Luang Prabang's outer defenses. The French finally forced them back.

Observers speculated whether the rebels were setting themselves for an attack on Luang Prabang.

A French spokesman said some 1,500 Vietminh regional units which have been skirting the royal city's defense perimeter for the past week, have been suddenly bolstered by an undetermined number of regulars.

Reds Cling To Demands For Europe

Molotov Insists On Army Ban

By DANIEL DE LUCE

BERLIN, Feb. 15 (AP)—Russia's V. M. Molotov tonight offered "modifications" of the Soviet proposal for a European security system. But he clung to demands that the European army must be banned, Germany neutralized and American troops sent home.

Molotov fought a four-hour running word battle with the Western ministers at the Berlin Big Four conference in an effort to sell his plan as securing "Europe for the Europeans."

France's Georges Bidault and Britain's Anthony Eden charged the Soviet plan would outlaw the North Atlantic Alliance as a key stone of Western defense. They said they would never agree to this.

Molotov retorted "The collective security treaty is an alternative project against the EDC (European Defense Community). The EDC is aimed at a rebirth of German militarism."

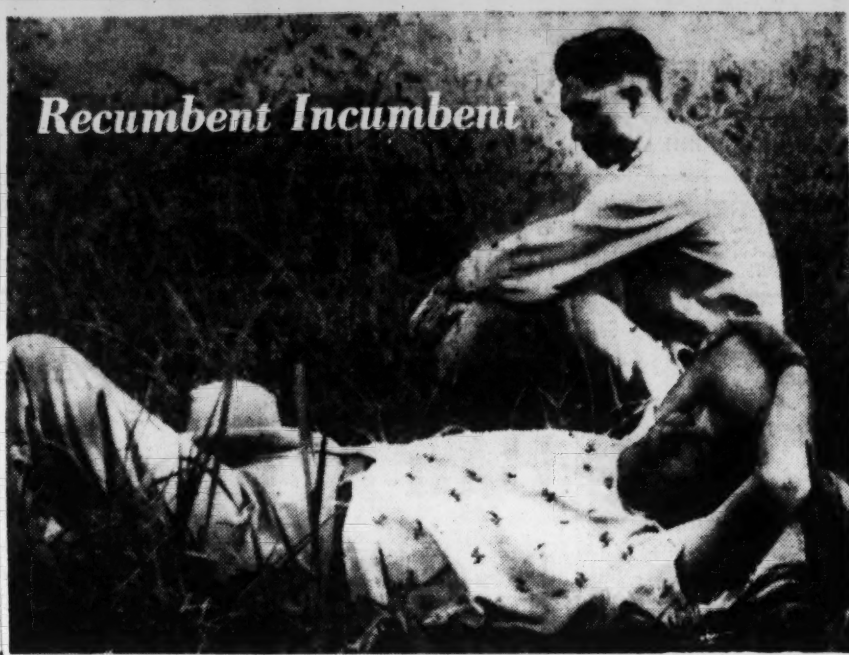

"It has been said the collective security treaty is aimed against NATO. Let's study this question, let's find out where and how this treaty is directed against any other treaty."

Trying to pin Molotov down, Bidault asked "Isn't the treaty incompatible with NATO? What is your answer?"

Molotov snapped "I suppose we adjourn."

1,000 Extra Tax Men Would Add $2 Billion

By C. P. TRUSSELL

New York Times News Service, Special to The Atlanta Constitution
WASHINGTON, Feb. 15—Plans to throw up to 1,000 additional investigators into the field each year for about eight years to find an estimated $1,500,000,000 to $2,000,000,000 that escapes collection in taxes annually were disclosed today. The program is being charted by T. Coleman Andrews, commissioner of internal revenue, in cooperation with the Social Security Administration.

Andrews also reported:

1. That distraint warrants which authorize the seizure of property for tax payment delinquency now numbered 1,285,000, the highest in history, with nearly one billion dollars of unpaid taxes involved.

2. That "errors" in income tax returns last year where reductions were claimed for personal exemptions for dependents other than children were found in about 59 out of every 100 returns received.

With another project Andrews hopes that by Jan. 1, 1955 or 1956 to release some 35 million taxpayers from obligation to file income tax returns. These are the majority whose income taxes are paid in full through withholdings at the source. They have not had to pay additional taxes but have had to file their returns regardless.

When this plan goes into effect,

Andrews told a House appropriations subcommittee in closed session earlier this month, there will be an annual saving now estimated at 25 million dollars through: 1. Elimination of many thousands of hours spent apparently needlessly in assisting persons in making out returns that only confirm what was known in the first place; that they owed no further taxes.

2. Reduction in paperwork on the part of the taxpayer, the employer who subtracts and pays the withholding tax and the government.

3. Tighter accounting controls over taxes withheld by employers.

4. More accurate determination of the employee's tax and more complete verification of credits allowed and refund payments.

Benson Drops Holdover, Hints Sweeping Shakeup

Charges Some Employees Seeking To Undermine Ike and Himself

By ROGER D. GREENE

WASHINGTON, Feb. 15 (AP)—Secretary of Agriculture Benson dropped a key holdover from the Truman regime today and hinted at a sweeping shakeup to oust hostile Democrats and replace them with Republicans in handling the administration's farm program.

Benson told a news conference that some Agriculture Department employees are working against the administration's farm policies and seeking to undermine both President Eisenhower and himself.

As a result, he said, the department will soon make a "careful study" of the entire situation in an effort to achieve "maximum efficiency and loyalty."

Benson

Marcus B. Braswell, a Truman holdover, is expected to resign as associate chief of the Stabilization Service, and Asst. Secretary John H. Davis, also a "moderate," has announced he will quit later this year. Another assistant secretary, J. Earl Coke, plans to return to his old job in California.

Benson told newsmen he does not expect "100 per cent conformity" with administration policies, but does expect employees to help carry out its programs without hindrance.

The secretary denied any "rift" over farm policies, but acknowledged there has been some divergence of views over details.

POINTS TO CRITICISM

Benson conceded there have been "some expressions of dissatisfaction" from Republican party leaders and from some members of Congress over the department's personnel lineup.

"Some of these leaders said they felt we depended too heavily on holdover Democrats," he said.

Coincident with Benson's statement, the department announced the resignation of T. Roy Reid as director of personnel. Reid, a Democrat and one-time assistant to Secretary of Agriculture Claude R. Wickard during the Franklin D. Roosevelt administration, has been an employee of the Agriculture Department since 1935. He is a native of Greenville, S. C.

MAJOR CHANGEOVER

Reid's resignation was the second major changeover in the last four days. On Friday, the department announced the resignation of Howard H. Gordon as head of the department's multi-billion-dollar crop and price support agency, the Commodity Stabilization Service.

Gordon's departure followed a reported "showdown" between Benson and officials of the Republican National Committee who complained that Gordon was slow to replace Democrats with Republicans in administering the federal farm program.

Gordon was known to be less in favor of drastic changes in the present program than Benson. For this reason he was described as a "moderate."

Lindbergh Back in Air Force, Nominated To Be a General

WASHINGTON, Feb. 15 (AP)—President Eisenhower reinstated "Lone Eagle" Charles A. Lindbergh in the Air Force today by nominating him to be a reserve brigadier general.

Lindbergh, who electrified the world when he flew alone in 1927 from New York to Paris, resigned his reserve commission as colonel on April 28, 1941, after the late President Roosevelt publicly denounced him as a "Copperhead."

The epithet "Copperhead" was first applied to Northern defeatists and appeasers during the Civil War. Mr. Roosevelt said he applied it to Lindbergh because of his activities in the America First group that sought to keep the United States out of World War II.

Mr. Eisenhower also nominated Brig. Gen. Wallace H. Graham, White House physician for former President Truman, for promotion to major general.

Lindbergh was commissioned a colonel in the Air Force after his spectacular flight to Paris in the Spirit of St. Louis. When he took off from Roosevelt Field, New York, he was an unknown reserve captain.

YEP, IT'S SINBAD'S BIRTHDAY—CHICAGO, Feb. 15—No, Sinbad—that's the gorilla—isn't mad at anyone. He's just gagging it up today atop the shoulders of keeper Ray Hoff because this is Sinbad's sixth birthday, which explains the cake in Hoff's hand. Sinbad has taken over the No. 1 popularity spot at Lincoln Park Zoo where he succeeded the famed Bushman.

Ex-PW Sells Gift House, Re-enlists

FREDERICKTOWN, Mo., Feb. 15 (AP)—A community-wide campaign that enabled this town to give a new home to a repatriated prisoner of war from Korea four months ago has ended up on a sour note.

Ex-Sgt. Charles E. Clubb sold the house, bought a new car and got married. Then he re-enlisted in the Army.

SURPRISED ALL

"It surprised us all the way around," said Mayor William F. Carmack. "Worse yet, the young man only got $2,300 for the place for which our people paid $3,000 before adding an estimated $1,000 in repairs."

There was a parade Oct. 18 when the 26-year-old sergeant and his mother, who never previously had owned their own home, were presented the keys to the house. Nearly the entire town of 5,000 turned out.

"I hope I'll always deserve it," Clubb said in a speech of acceptance.

NOW IN MISSOURI

Clubb now is stationed at Ft. Leonard Wood, Mo. His mother is living in a two-room apartment.

Among those who have expressed disappointment at the turn of events is Mrs. Loretta Cawood, who was a leader in the drive as head of the American War Mothers here.

"I think I can speak for a lot of people when I say we're keenly disappointed," Mrs. Cawood said. "But I'm glad we did it."

"Fredericktown's spirit is on the record, and they can't take that away from us."

'Most Wanted' Fugitive Seized

WASHINGTON, Feb. 15 (AP)—The FBI announced that Everett Lowell Krueger, 31, one of its 10 most wanted fugitives, was captured by FBI agents tonight at Las Cruces, N. M., as he was about to leave town.

Krueger was wanted for the interstate transportation of an automobile stolen during his escape from the Teton County jail at Jackson, Wyo., last May 8.

A jewelry store executive yesterday looked over an out-of-town newspaper and found pictures which police believe may lead to the solution of a $75,000 armed robbery here five months ago.

The jeweler, Tracy W. O'Neal Jr., said he recognized two desperadoes pictured in a Memphis newspaper as being two of three armed bandits who robbed the Jefferson Diamond and Loan Assoc. at 8 Auburn Ave., N.E., on Sept. 17.

Mrs. John B. Stokes, of 508 Penfield Ave., Hapeville, an employee in the store, verified the identification. Detective Lt. R. F. Jordan said.

The two men were arrested Saturday in Memphis following a sidewalk gun battle with police. Memphis authorities said police answering a holdup alarm at a jewelry store interrupted a hold-up and the shooting followed. One officer was wounded. A third bandit escaped.

The two held at Memphis were identified as Mack Burton Mont-

13,288 FEET

Divers Set 2nd Record In 6 Months

PARIS, Feb. 15 (AP)—Two French naval officers today dived farther beneath the ocean's surface than man has ever probed before. They plunged their 35-ton bathyscaph more than 2½ miles into the Atlantic off West Africa.

Lt. Cmdr. Georges Houot and engineer Pierre Henri Willm made their second spectacular world record plunge in six months—this time to a depth of 13,288 feet 160 miles off Dakar in the South Atlantic. They beat by 2,949 feet—more than half a mile—the previous record set by Swiss Prof. August Piccard and his son, Jacques, last September in the Tyrrhenian Sea division of the Mediterranean off Naples, Italy.

The Frenchmen spent six hours below the surface today.

Houot and Willm used one of Piccard's old bathyscaphs, given to the French by the Belgian navy. It performs something like a free balloon, only in the opposite direction. It operates from a mother ship to which it is not attached, navigating freely when submerged by using small electric motors.

Metal weights held to the bathyscaph's hull by magnets take the strange vessel down. When its navigators are ready to return to the surface, they release the weights. Tons of gasoline in floats, lighter than water, then lift the bathyscaph back up.

Practically no yardage has been added, but Oh! so much variety and grace. Other 1954 fashion points are high curved Empire waistlines, dazzle buttons, spanking white linen collars and cuffs. Today on Peachtree

Nigh gone with the wind . . .

This is a chase sequence. Time, 6 p. m. Place: Peachtree and Cain. Wind roaring round the corner slaps Davison artist heading home toting big manila bag full of drawings. Gale snatches bag and tosses it under traffic where it bursts, giving forth blizzard of sketches of pots and pans, ironing boards, canisters, can openers and a deep freeze. Girl's hat blows off, follows drawings. So does girl. Traffic cop lights out after girl. Three Southern Gentlemen take off after cop. By now traffic in substantial snafu, due to be worse any second, for lo and behold, a Davison merchant leaps into the middle of the street flapping like a traffic cop and really louses things up. What's more, a Davison veep, walking rather grandly with a fistful of fresh camellias suddenly discovers the artist-in-distress hopping around under fenders, and of course HE has to plow into the act! Nothing like it around these parts since the Keystone Cops. In due course the art-work, which had all but gone with the wind was salvaged, the merry actors went their several ways, the cop got back on post, cars started moving, Atlanta relaxed, hurricane died down. In Sunday's paper you saw the drawings, in our Housewares booklet. So you thought some of those scars were ink-smudges? Friend, those were tire-treads! End chase sequence.

It's white poplin plastered with Marine signal flags that spell out potent calls for help such as: "I am drifting"; "I have damaged my rudder"; "Can you take me in tow?"; "I am afire and require immediate assistance." It's a cinch to bring the boys running. So every gal (teens or older) will please line up today for this wacky, wonderful new wig-wag system—and start signaling! 3 Admit Burglaries In 6 States

A trio, one man and two women, have been jailed at Clarksville in connection with a series of burglaries and safecrackings in Georgia, South Carolina, Mississippi, Alabama, Tennessee and North Carolina. GBI Sgt. Woody Wilson announced.

Wilson listed the trio as Noble Whitfield, 28, of Alto; his sister-in-law, Edna Roach Whitfield, 18, and his sister, Mary Whitfield, 24. Wilson said the three admitted 26 burglaries in the six states. He said that Lloyd J. Craves of Alabama is also wanted in connection with the burglaries.

Georgia cities in which the trio admitted burglaries included Gainesville, Augusta, Alto, Lakemont, Savannah, Atlanta and Tullahoma, Wilson said.

Mary Whitfield was arrested in Habersham County by Sheriff George Pardue. The other two were picked up by troopers C. A. Veal and C. E. Atkinson near Toccoa.

Gowen Letter Bore Seal, Solon Says

Gubernatorial candidate Charles Gowen, who recently charged Lt. Gov. Marvin Griffin with "apparently" using state-supplied stationery for campaign purposes, was charged with that offense himself yesterday.

Rep. C. C. Perkins of Carroll County reported receiving a letter, signed by Gowen, asking "that you will decide to support me for which I will be very grateful."

Perkins said Gowen apparently "slipped up" in mailing the letter. It carried a replica of the Great Seal of Georgia and the letterhead of the House of Representatives, House Chamber.

"It's either the same stationery they give us for state business, or Charlie has had it reproduced as Griffin said he had his stationery reproduced," Perkins commented.

Gowen had said Griffin should neither use state stationery nor reproduce such stationery for campaign purposes.

Gowen, contacted in Brunswick, said if House stationery was used for the Perkins letter it was an error made in his law office by secretaries accustomed to using it on letters to representatives.

Gowen added that this was an isolated instance, which may or may not have been repeated two or three times.

Sons of Gray Cold to Praise For Lincoln

SAVANNAH, Feb. 15 (AP)—The Confederacy had the official word tonight that the South has not yet buried the hatchet.

Neill Bohlinger, Little Rock, Commander in Chief of the Sons of Confederate Veterans, made it clear in a notice to local sons that recent conciliatory remarks of SCV publicity director John Virden do not represent the views of the SCV or those of its commander in chief.

Col. Virden was quoted as saying in Lincoln Day exercises in Washington "We decided 90 years was long enough to hold a grudge. Lincoln belonged to all the people. He was a good deal more than an Illinois Republican."

Col. Virden Friday became the first SCV representative in history to place a wreath at the Lincoln Memorial.

But the notice received here today from Commander Bohlinger stated:

"The statement and sentiment in the interview was entirely unauthorized."

Game Chief Hits U.S. Fish Trap Tax Plan

State Game and Fish Commission Director Fulton Lovell yesterday blasted an Army Corps of Engineers plan to tax owners of rough fish control baskets at $50 apiece as "an infringement not just on state's rights but on man's inherent outdoor rights."

He said that Army Secretary Robert Stevens has proposed a $50 per trap tax and a $25 per man and net tax used on any navigable stream or lake.

He said local Army Corps of Engineers spokesmen interpret the plan as affecting all navigable streams, harbors and the Allatoona, Clark Hill, Jim Woodruff and Buford Dam reservoirs which were

YOUR GAS COMPANY'S 97th YEAR WAS ANOTHER YEAR OF PROGRESS

A typical construction scene showing new mains being laid preparatory to extending Natural Gas service.

1953 marked Atlanta Gas Light Company's 97th year of gas service in Georgia. It was another year of progress—a year of expansion in and with the communities we serve. Gas sales reached an all time high of over 988 million therms; gas meters in service set a new high, totaling 242,998 in 42 communities; and in the Greater Atlanta area alone approximately 157 miles of new gas mains were laid. Five new communities were added to our lines. Clarkston, Pine Lake, and Stone Mountain started receiving natural gas service near the year's end, and construction work was practically completed to start natural gas service in Sandersville and Tennille at the turn of the year. Augusta, North Augusta and Aiken, South Carolina, were converted to natural gas, a forward step that will encourage still greater expansion in that area, one of the fastest growing in the nation. 1954 promises the same steady progress and expansion with gas sales estimated at over 990 million therms. As we enter our 98th year of gas service in Georgia, with over 70% of our stock owned by Georgians, the majority of whom live in the communities we serve, it is with a renewed awareness of our public trust to bring you the best gas service possible.

Rep Sieminski Threatens To Kill Anyone Who Questions His Loyalty

whole basis of approach is different.
Under the Truman security standards, he said, disloyalty was the only grounds for dismissal.

IRON CURTAIN

Tuttle said one reason for separating a man from the government service as a "security risk" might be the fact that he had relatives abroad, behind the Iron Curtain, upon whom pressure might be brought.

"A man may be a rugged individual and never intend to give in, but he may have a mother behind the Iron Curtain and it would be a terrible thing to say that person is a security risk because of a subversive contact," Tuttle explained to the committee.

"That is why we do not break these down as to subversives and others, although in such a case it is a subversive contact that may ultimately make him dangerous."

Tuttle little knew what he was walking into as he explained this to a committee of which Sieminski was a member.

AM I DISLOYAL?

"For the last seven years I had a stepdaughter behind the Iron Curtain," the New Jersey Representative explained. "She broke out this Christmas. Am I to understand by this executive order that I have been disloyal to the United States?"

"This order, as is, should be wiped off the books of the United States. I think it is vicious, totalitarian, un-American. It shoots from the hip, puts a man out of government service, classifies him disloyal for nothing over which he has control, puts others in judgment of his heart, conscience and oath. That's un-American."

"I defy anyone to say I was disloyal because my stepdaughter was behind the Iron Curtain or that any squeeze play worked or could have worked against me by the Reds."

Tuttle interjected that the executive order said nothing like Sieminski had just stated.
"IMPLICATIONS THERE"
"The implications are there," Sieminski continued, "and I am telling you if anybody says that because I had a stepdaughter behind the Iron Curtain I was a disloyal congressman, that I was a traitor, I challenge him to make that charge and expect to get out of this room alive."

"Liberty is life, and no man is going to make that charge against me and leave here on his feet. If anybody makes that charge against me and expects to live after he makes it, he had better have the cops here. I say that for the record."

Tuttle said hastily that, of course, he had not suggested anything of the sort about Sieminski.

CITES VAN FLEET

Sieminski insisted that the presidential order, if carried to extreme, also would have barred Gen. James A. Van Fleet from continued command of the 8th Army after his aviator son had crashed behind enemy lines, in North Korea. The son now is presumed dead, but for a long time it was believed he might be a Communist prisoner.

"Do you think Gen. Van Fleet, when his boy was lost behind the Iron Curtain in North Korea, would stop fighting for the Red, White and Blue because of torture possibilities to his son?" he asked. "When he heard the news, he wiped his eyes and said, 'That's the way the kid wanted it, let's go.'"

Sieminski, a 44-year-old Princeton graduate, explained to reporters later that he met his wife in Vienna after World War II while serving on occupation duty in Austria.

She had been married previously, and had one child, Isabella, in Poland and a second, Christine, in England. After their marriage, they were able to bring Christine to the United States, but they were unable until Christmas last year to get Isabella out of Poland.

Defying D'Tempes' Warnings, We Bought Cay

would drown you or blow you into the sea."

"Where does Milton Thomas live?"

"East End." Then Maurice went on begging us not to consider living on Diddieo.

We were on our way to East by dawn. The wind was fresh and right on the nose so that, with the Jalopy strapped down, spray soaked us and, when coming about, a wave rolled over the tumble home and into my hip-pocket, wetting down the $146.

In the West Indies there is a pattern for the transaction of business as rigid as that in the Orient. You must follow a devious path designed mainly to conceal the nature of your business from the party of the first part until, if you're smart enough, you find out before he finds out what you're selling or buying. On the way to East End we plotted a campaign for Milton Thomas. We wouldn't even mention Marina Cay until we found out what his attitude toward the island was.

Milton Thomas was a tall, old man who must have been a giant in his youth, for his frame was still square and big. His hair was white, his color sepia with darker, deep lines in his face. He looked like a prophet, with the calm, benevolent eyes of one and an aura of great personal dignity.

Deviousness simply did not fit here. We told Milton Thomas that we wanted to buy Marina Cay and he told us that it wasn't fit for people to live on. It was too small, too far away, too bare.

Milton Thomas thought for a moment and then said, almost asking, "Sixty dollars?"

He looked at us and then smiled as a man does when he's proud of doing something big and good.

Rodie smiled too (she has the warmest smile).

We all laughed when I fished the money out and couldn't get it unstuck. Mrs. Thomas brought in some tea and, while we talked—the Thomases warning us to run for East End if the gale blew—we got the money counted out and a sort of deed agreed to. (As aliens we must now apply for a license to hold land in the islands. Milton agreed to accept thirty dollars now and thirty dollars when the license was issued.)

Milton Thomas then walked with us a little way. He told us that all the islanders believed that we were there only searching for pirate treasure and that, if we did not find some soon, we would go away. (Captain Kidd, among others, buried millions in gold on every island in the West Indies. They say.)

I think he believed us when we said that we wanted Marina Cay only to live on.

That night we stopped in at Road Town to tell Maurice the good news and the others were distressed. We would surely, they said, "loose" our lives on Diddieo dem when d'tempes' struck. An d'groun' sea work up an' we be marooned a week, a month, forever, till we expire on dis Diddieo dem.

We had a drink and didn't listen. As we sat there making lists and plans we heard yells of "Mail boat. Mail boat," and people came a-running. (The Mail Boat comes to Tortola about once a week.) We had two cables. The first one read: CONGRATULATIONS BOTH MOTHER.

The second: AIR HERALD TRIBUNE PIC IRITA VAN DOREN.

"Which one?" Rodie asked.

"Which one what?"

"Mother?"

I hadn't even thought of her mother. But when I studied the terseness of the message I began to have doubts. My mother is the grasshopper type. When she writes a cable things get expensive. We agreed that it must be her mother. But the idea had been so condensed, nothing was left of it.

"You don't think she thinks I'm pregnant, do you?"

"That unnerved me. 'Are you?'"

"Not that I know of."

Still baffled, we turned to the next cable.

"Which one?" I asked.

"Which one what?"

"A picture of the Herald Tribune or Irita Van Doren?"

(It embarrasses me now to remember that I didn't even know who Irita Van Doren was.)

"Is she one of you old girls?"

"None of my girls were old."

"What will we live in?" I asked.

She turned to face me. She said, very quietly, "It doesn't matter, Marse. I want to go."

But, after we'd slept a little and day had dawned, we decided to be a little more practical. Early in the morning we hired a sloop to sail down to St. Thomas for some two-by-fours, planking, and a roll of tarpaper roofing.

LANE DRUG STORES

We would, we planned, build just a little shed up on Marina Cay—just something to keep the rain off us until we could afford to build a real house.

We spent one more day and one more night in that concrete dog run. We packed everything and hired Nelson to sail it up to Marina Cay the next day. Then, as the sun came up, we sailed away from Sea Cow Bay. We never went back.

Exemption Extension Likely for Combat Men

WASHINGTON, Feb. 15 (AP)—The House Ways and Means Committee voted today to extend indefinitely the provision relieving servicemen in combat zones from paying income taxes.

The exemption is due to expire Jan. 1, 1955. Under the new proposal, it would remain in effect so long as the draft is continued.

Authorities said the exemption would apply now to service in Korea, even though no actual fighting is going on there.

The law exempts from income taxes all the income of enlisted men in combat zones, or men under hospitalization for injuries received in combat zones. It gives officers an exemption of up to $200 monthly.

The committee also agreed to continue indefinitely an exemption for estate taxes of servicemen killed in the line of duty.

Insuror Dobbins Dies at 71

Paul H. Dobbins, 71, of 56 28th St., NW, prominent insurance executive, died of a heart attack at noon yesterday in his Hurt Bldg. office.

Several years ago Mr. Dobbins retired as a partner in the Georgia general agency of the Aetna Life Insurance Co. Since retirement he had served as an associate general agent and had remained active in a sales capacity.

He was born March 3, 1881, at Newnan, the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Walter C. Dobbins. The family moved to Atlanta when he was a young man, and Mr. Dobbins began his career in insurance with the Penn Mutual Life Insurance Co.

FOUNDED FIRM

With his father and the late Capt. George M. Hope, Mr. Dobbins founded the firm of George M. Hope & Co. in 1903. Representing National Life of Vermont, the partnership was the general agency for Georgia.

Upon the death of the senior partner, Mr. Dobbins left the firm in 1932 to join Sam M. Carson of Atlanta in forming the Georgia agency of Aetna. Mr. Dobbins and Mr. Carson retired as joint heads of the firm several years ago, and were succeeded by Henry A. Maddox.

Mr. Dobbins was a member of an Atlanta lodge, F. & A. M., Knights Templar, and the First Presbyterian Church. He was a former member of the Atlanta Chamber of Commerce.

SURVIVORS

Surviving are his wife, the former Mary Knight, a native of Uniontown, Ala.; a brother, Hugh C. Dobbins, Atlanta; two sisters, Mrs. Luther D. Loughridge, Atlanta, and Mrs. Frank Wester, Richmond, Va.; a stepson, Syd H. Hardie, Atlanta; a granddaughter, Miss Howell Hardie, Tampa; a grandson, Syd Hardie Jr., Tampa; six nephews, Charles, Walter and Hugh C. Jr., Willis, Atlanta; Luther Loughridge, Atlanta; Walter C. Loughridge, Jacksonville, Fla.; and Bowden Dobbins, Atlanta, and four nieces, Mrs. Dargan Cole, Cartersville; Mrs. Alvin Cates Jr., Atlanta; Mrs. Norman Bailey, Richmond, and James Slocum, Macon.

Still Removed In East Point Before Raid

Wary moonshiners removed from the East Point area a gigantic still capable of turning out 1,000 gallons of booze a week only 24 hours before police moved in during the weekend. Another outfit, much smaller, was destroyed near West Paces Ferry road and Northside drive.

Capt. Hugh Duncan of the Southside unincorporated police said men making the raid Sunday on Dobson drive, near the East Point city limits, found 35 250-gallon barrels, some of which still contained beer and mash.

Along a creek bank in the wooded area, Duncan said, were imprints showing where a large upright boiler had stood. Officers also found freshly disturbed earth showing where each section of the still had been hurriedly removed.

Duncan said the decision to move the apparatus evidently was made Friday night or early Saturday.

The other still, found on a small branch emptying into Nancy Creek near W. Paces Ferry road and Northside drive, consisted of two small "groundhog" type units, police said. Each still had a mash capacity of 400 to 500 gallons.

C. Baxter Jones Jr., Atlanta attorney, discovered the still during a walk over his property Sunday and called police.

Sentence Suspended In Football Bet Case

James Thomas Farr, 27, of 661 Gerard St., NW, was given a six-month suspended sentence yesterday after Fulton Criminal Court Judge Luther Alverson found him guilty of taking football bets last September and October.

Farr was also ordered to pay fines totaling $500.

Peters Sees Court Tied On School Segregation

MANCHESTER, Feb. 15—The possibility of a four-to-four deadlock in the U.S. Supreme Court on segregation in schools was seen here tonight by James S. Peters, chairman of the State Democratic Executive Committee.

He added that such a decision would uphold the lower courts, allowing segregation in schools to stand, and might delay for five to 10 years any further action on the explosive issue.

Peters said he based his statement on widely circulated reports at a recent Democratic meeting in Philadelphia which caused Southern Democrats to raise both their eyebrows and their hopes. These reports were in effect as follows:

When President Truman was in office the Supreme Court stood at four for upholding segregation and four for abolishing it. The late Chief Justice Vinson had not handed down his opinion in the case and held the balance of power. It was at this point that the Democratic administration decided to delay the decision, thus, leaving the "hot potato" for incoming Republicans.

Later Vinson died and Gov. Earl Warren was appointed to the post by President Eisenhower. Despite the fact Vinson was a Southerner, it was never determined how he might have ruled on the issue had he lived.

And now the court is still reported snarled at the same 4-4 deadlock. With the issue in the hands of the Republicans, who stand to take the blame and make many political enemies, regardless of the outcome, the administration has decided a deadlocked decision is the answer, Peters quoted the report.

The 4-4 decision would be possible if Chief Justice Warren excuses himself from participating in the opinion on the basis he was not on the court when arguments for and against segregation began.

Peters believes this is the only case now before the court in which Warren could so excuse himself. Senatorial approval of Warren's

2 Atlantans Held in Giant Forgery Ring

Two Atlantans were being held yesterday by the FBI as suspected members of a bad check ring operating in at least five states.

In Atlanta, Samuel Adkinson Kidd was charged with interstate transportation of stolen property—checks—and was placed under $5,000 bond by U. S. Commissioner Frank Holden.

Meanwhile, in Miami, FBI agents reported they were holding Samuel Harold Long, alias Robert Sullivan, also of Atlanta, on a similar charge.

The FBI said the two were members of a bad check ring operating through the middle Atlantic states, cashing forged payroll checks of the Westinghouse Electric Corp., drawn on the Mellon National Bank of Pittsburgh, and stolen from a printer at Dayton, Ohio.

Long admitted cashing more than 25 of these checks totaling $3,500 and had 17 uncashed checks in his possession when arrested, the agents reported. Kidd, when arrested in Atlanta, had no checks in his possession but he is being held on a warrant for a similar charge from Pittsburgh, they added.

Appointment has not been received as yet, but his appointment is now in the Senate Judiciary Committee and overwhelming sanction is expected once it gets out of committee and on the Senate floor.

Tax Indictment To Be Asked for Ex-Councilman

U. S. Dist. Atty. James W. Dorsey said last night he will ask a federal grand jury to indict Cecil W. Hester, vice president of the Citizens and Southern National Bank, on income tax evasion charges.

A criminal complaint was filed last month against the former Atlanta city councilman by Internal Revenue agents, charging him with "willingly and knowingly" trying to evade $5,386.16 in taxes in 1947.

The complaint was filed a few hours before the statute of limitations became effective, which would have prevented federal prosecution.

The grand jury convenes Wednesday morning.

St. Joseph's Medical Staff Picks Blalock

Dr. Tully Blalock was installed as president of the medical staff of St. Joseph's Infirmary at the annual dinner meeting last night.

Dr. Robert Mabon was named president-elect of the St. Joseph's medical staff, and Joseph Kurtz was elected secretary.

Dr. Charles Reiser, retiring president, reported there were 163 members of the medical staff in 1953.

He said 8,728 patients were hospitalized at St. Joseph's last year. The percentage of deaths, he noted, was 1.6—considerably below the national acceptable maximum of 4 per cent.

Dr. Reiser said free care given by the hospital totaled $96,610 during the year. He said 478 patients received charity care through the clinic. In addition, 337 maternity patients and 162 tumor patients received free services.

Only 10 of the charity patients were Catholic, Dr. Reiser noted. Dr. Duncan Shepard, chairman of the department of surgery, reported 4,948 surgical operations were performed in the hospital.

Dr. Marion Benson, chairman of the obstetrics and gynecology section, reported there were 1,725 live births during the year.

Dr. Reiser said a tissue committee has been established at St. Joseph's to determine if each operation is justified. He said the committee will raise the standards of surgery in the hospital.

BALDNESS?

Baldness starts when the scalp fails to replace hair at the same rate that it sheds hair. In the normal "hair-cycle" hair reaches mature length—is shed—and a new hair replaces each old hair. Baldness comes when matured hair falls out faster than new hair grows in.

There are many theories as to the causes of baldness—some of them very contradictory. Authorities do generally agree, though, that baldness is less likely to occur on a scalp that is kept in a clean, stimulated, healthy condition.

You can easily learn (without charge or obligation) exactly how to give your hair and scalp modern, hygienic care and invigorative treatment. You need only to spend about 15 minutes of your time to find this out. Just consult a skilled Thomas expert today. His ability to advise you and help you is based on The Thomas' 33 years of experience—covering more than six-million Thomas hair and scalp treatments.

Come in today for free consultation and advice. See for yourself how the matchless, modern Thomas method removes itchy dandruff scurf—how it makes your scalp glow with a grand, new healthy feeling—and how it leaves your hair looking far more alive and virile. Consultation in private.

The Uncompromising Creed

One thing I liked especially about Forrest Evashevski, a refugee Pole from Detroit's automotive district, was the way he poked fun at some of the foibles of his profession. As the football coach at Iowa, Evashevski has become noted as a parodist, largely for a line he composed last autumn about how it feels to be done in by Notre Dame.

This was in Albany, where the meeting took place last month, and Evashevski stood up and told the local Touchdown Club what he thought about people who preach that it's not winning but how you play the game, and then use everything but a rubber hose to win.

"There's nothing wrong with winning," he said. "Play to win. That's what we're here for, to win. They don't pick an All-America team made up of the 11 best losers."

Evashevski is a tough-minded boy who had to knock down a few obstacles to defeat anonymity and make a place for himself in the world. There aren't many sons of automotive shop workers who do. It is natural, then, that his philosophy should be based on winning, and so, to him there's virtue in winning.

But to the National Education Association, it's wrong. The fever to win has become so deep-set and widespread, the NEA says, that it is likely to become a disease preying on youth, reaching down as deep as children under 10. This was the subject of a 116-page, five-alarm report issued over the weekend, condemning the exaggerated trend in athletics and its foul effects on the youngsters.

—It Begins With a Pounding

It was last summer, I believe, that I read a story in Look magazine about the harmful effects Little League baseball is having on tots who have become concerned with the proposition of winning at a period too early in life. It was impressively illustrated with the picture of a defeated Little Leaguer, his face so contorted by the grief of losing that he looked like a little old man.

A few years ago, the 10-year-old son of a fireman in Washington was exploited because of his advanced adult mannerisms as a baseball pitcher. The kid put on exhibitions at Griffith Stadium and was cheered and photographed until he must have been filled with delusions of grandeur. At any rate, he never developed, for I have yet to see the name of Tony Baker in anybody's box score.

The pressure to make Junior a big hero usually begins with an urgent pounding inside the chest of the Old Man. He shows up at the hospital the day of the poor child's birth carrying an armful of bats and gloves and footballs and a monogram sweater from his favorite school. Old Man was not an athlete himself. He was close, but not quite, a condition that can sometimes turn a real nice fellow into a raging monster at the mention of his failure.

Now it may be that Junior is a lovable sort of kid who's constructed for piano playing or art appreciation. But the Old Man is going to mould him his way. He'll have in him the big career he didn't have himself, or bust. More times than not, he busts.

—Not Equipped To Take a Jolt

Schools and organizations have fallen into this same hard-boiled line of thinking. Leagues for the small fry are great. I find nothing foul in teaching the young ones how to compete, but when the pressure to win is applied to the point that a child suffers temporary breakdown over a defeat, the program is out of hand.

It doesn't stop at that. Constant adulation for athletic achievements gives the kid athlete an exaggerated sense of importance. Soon he is being trailed by college scouts, and then professional scouts, and by the time he has reached his majority he simply isn't mentally and spiritually equipped to take the jolt of a setback.

Huey Long was a bombastic little dictator who preached that every man should be a king. This hypocrisy of his was as American as the desire to have a fat bank account and belong to the country club. We're accustomed to it in athletics. We hear intense orations on building character at the banquet table, after which the speaker goes out and throws every brick in the yard to win. The athletes are pretty well schooled in this philosophy by the time they're wearing a cap and gown.

For that matter, our national philosophy is based on an uncompromising creed. In Sunday school we are taught to do unto others as we would have them do unto us. In business, it's the survival of the fittest. Every man for himself, and don't stop to bury your dead. No wonder we're confusing the kids early.

I go along with Evashevski. There's nothing wrong with the desire to win. But there must be a tempering of desire and a compromise in creeds.

BEST SINCE DILLION?

Freshman Ace Carl Vereen Heads Jackets' Track Team

By BERT PRATHER

Towering Carl Vereen, one of the most promising weight men to show up in the Southeastern Conference since Auburn's Olympic ace Jim Dillion, will be the backbone of Coach Norris Dean's young Georgia Tech track team this season.

The 6-6, 225-pound freshman from Miami, almost a sure bet to land a regular berth on the Jacket eleven this fall, has already tossed the discus 154 feet in practice sessions.

Coach Dean had more or less expected him to do well in this event since he established quite a reputation with the platter at Miami Senior High. But what really has been a pleasant surprise is his rapid strides with the 16-pound shot.

Big Carl was tossing the iron ball about 44 and 45 feet when practice started. Now he has moved up to 48 feet, 11 inches. That is big time tossing. In fact, his coach freely predicts he'll toss it better than 50 feet by the Florida Relays, March 27.

Another promising trackster was discovered only yesterday at the Flats when Mike McGinnis of Gastonia, N.C., turned in a 51.8

quarter. Freshman Mike, who came to Tech on a football grant-in-aid but was sidelined with a chronic shoulder injury, runs with so much power that sideliners believe he can be a .49 flat man once he gets in shape. He has never tried his hand at track before.

Hugh Tannehill, veteran middle distance man, who was elected captain of the team for the second straight year, heads up the rest of the squad which should develop into a good dual meet aggregation.

The Jackets will make their first start in the Atlantic Coast Conference invitational indoor games at Chapel Hill, N.C., Feb. 27.

Likely candidates for the Carolina trip are: Francis Rust, hurdles and high jump; Vereen, shot put; Bobby Gilliland, dashes; Bev Cochran, dashes and low hurdles; Ed Green, relay and low hurdles; Tannehill, 880; Don Tettebach, mile run; Jack Keen, pole vault; Ed Mau, high jump; Don Ted, 440 and mile relay.

Staff Photo—Tom Aldred

BLOCKED KICK—Or was it blocked? Tulane's Pat Browne (17), gets a leg in the play as Tech's Ennis Anderson (10) rushes after ball. Jim Nowakowski, 6-9 Greenie ace, is pushed out of play as Browne tries to jump Anderson for ball. Jackets' Dick Lenholt (30) watches action from rear.

CAGERS RARING TO GO AGAIN

State AA Tournament Will Have To Go Some To Beat '53 Thrills

By CHARLIE ROBERTS

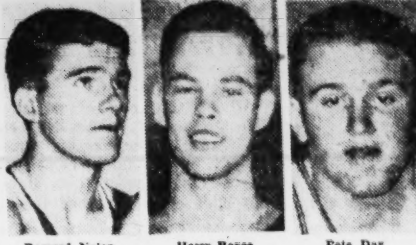

A bunch of Georgia's most sparkling basketball boys will be whooping it up in The Constitution-sponsored State Class AA basketball tournament at the city auditorium, starting one week from today. If they match the thrills provided by the all-star cast of 1953, they'll have to go all out from Tuesday's shrill starting whistle to Saturday's blatant closing buzzer.

Tuesday's opening day a year ago was one of the most hectic in the 32-year history of the Reserved dress circle and box seats for the state tournament are on sale at the front counter in the Journal-Constitution building and at Reeder & McLaughlin's. Season reserved seat tickets are priced at eight dollars.

GIAA basketball extravaganza. Records fell like leaves in a high wind in autumn.

Lanier's Poets opened by establishing a new tournament team scoring record in plastering Dalton, 84-63. The mark lasted just one hour and 33 minutes as O'Keefe smothered Richmond Academy, 90-66, in the second game. That was the fracas in which gangling Billy

Wade Mitchell, Bernard Nolan, Harry Boyce

Salter hit 17 field goals in 22 shots and set a new individual scoring record for the meet with 36 points. He had 34 in the first three quarters and didn't play the final four minutes.

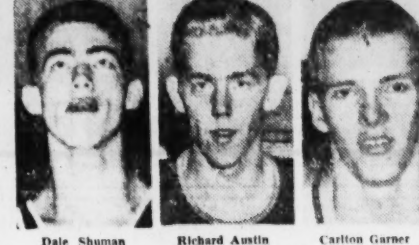

Some 2,200 spines in the big opening night crowd tingled as Harry Boyce, Region 1-AA's 6-4 scoring leader, spun a game-winning field goal through the net with seven seconds left in the 61-59 Columbus High victory over Russell. Pete Andersen, the lad from Denmark, and Huel White, who'll be back this year, poured in 21 and 16 points for the Imps, and Joe Bell and the now-fabulous Harry Blondheim flipped in 18 and 17 for the Wildcats.

North Fulton's champions-to-be began their ravaging of the 16-team field by blasting Boys Catholic, 82-57. Wade Mitchell, one of Atlanta's all-time great athletes, began his record-shattering tournament performance by smoking the rims for 28 points. Danny MacGregor, Region 2-AA scoring king for two years and now at Georgia Tech, ended his prep career with a 24-point effort for the Augustans.

Wednesday was upset day and was highlighted by a 38-point onslaught by Atlanta Grady's Richard Austin, a stint that relegated Salter's previous day 36 to the one-time records' list. Austin, who also holds the city League one-game record of 42 points—against Southwest—did his dirt after predicting he would smash Salter's mark. Luckless Cedar-town fell, 75-64.

Savannah High upset Baker, 54-51, as 6-4 center Carlton Garner, second leading point maker in Georgia for 1954, sat it out with a bum knee. Moultrie pinned Commercial's touted Cobras, 49-48, as Jimmy Herring, a minister's son, fired 26 points, the last being

Pete Day, Rossville's 6-6 center, Toppy Vann and Bernard Nolan put an end to the Cinderella story of Fulton's Gee-Whiz Kids, 34-30. Ed Butler's Gee-Whizzers had gone to the city tourney finals after winning only five of 12 in regular season.

Thursday's five-star attraction was a 65-58 victory by O'Keefe that sent Lanier to the sidelines before the finals for only the second time in 30 years. Sub Farrell Farr, who later made the tourney All-Star team, bagged 20 points, hit 10 of 10 free shots for O'Keefe.

North Fulton slapped down Columbus, 79-64, as Rossville rebounded from a 32-24 half-time deficit to beat Moultrie 60-50.

It was Paul Vickers for 23 and Mitchell for 20 as North Fulton shaded O'Keefe in the semifinals despite 18-point jobs by Salter and Shaw. Day and Vann plunked in 21 and 18 as dark-horse Rossville spun past Savannah, 64-60.

Long-shot ace Abe Lott and Shuman hit net with 15 and 14 for Savannah, but O'Keefe prevailed, 53-52, in the third-place joust as Salter netted 22.

Rossville was no match for towering North Fulton before 3,200 in the title game. It was 86-53, as Mitchell bagged 28, Blackmar 15, Marco 14, Harry Brown 13, Paul Vickers 11. Vann and Nolan lugged the Rossville load with 14 and 10.

Mitchell, Salter and Columbus' Andersen were one-two-three in the voting for the tourney's most popular player, and it was trophy-winning Mitchell who set a new tourney scoring record of 98 points in four games for a 24.5 average.

Even the crowds set records. A new mark of 10,077 paid to watch the fun, and almost $9,000 was taken in at the gate. The 1954 fun starts next Tuesday. Don't miss it if you can.

Newcomers To Appear On Mat Card

Three newcomers are scheduled to step into the ring at the City Auditorium this Friday night as Paul Jones' wrestling program resumes its weekly program.

Jones has selected veteran Red McIntyre to oppose one of the new boys, Prince Omar. The other two will battle each other, Tinker Todd against Walter Kammeroff.

Tvers Art Nelson and Verne Gagne will share the feature role. These huskies will go for one fall with a 60-minute time limit.

The opener will pit Joe Numa with Frank Allen. Action begins at 8:30.

Blondheim, Russell Capture 4-AA Titles Star Takes Scoring Race; Wildcats Top League Play

Harry Blondheim and his Russell High teammates carried off honors in the regular season Region 4-AA play.

Blondheim won the scoring title with 23.1 average, 162 points in seven league games. Russell was crowned the regular season champs with an 8-1 record over loop foes.

Trailing Blondheim in the scoring race was Tommy Pettett of Marietta who put on a sterling late season scoring spree. Pettett finished his nine-game test with 163 points for an 18.1 mark.

Charlie Maynard of Decatur scored more points than any other player in the region but his team played 11 games. He finished third in the race with a 16.5 mark. He had 182 points.

Another Russell player, Jimmy Stanley, and Rome's Gene Cox shared fourth position in the scoring parade. Stanley assisted Blondheim in leading the Wildcats to the crown by scoring 143 points in nine games for a 15.9 average. Cox, in nine games, produced the same number of points as Stanley.

Cedar-town was second in the league standings with a 6-3 mark. Third came Rome, 6-5, and Marietta finished fourth with a 5-5 chart. The region tourney began last night.

City Teams Open Football Practice

All of the city's high school football teams got into the act yesterday with their off-season football drills.

Athens, GMA Send Tankers To N.C. Meet

Athens High School and Georgia Military Academy of College Park will send full teams to the Southern Interscholastic Prep School Swimming Meet at Chapel Hill, N.C., Saturday.

GMA, which has won prep school honors three times in the 11-year-old meet but didn't compete last year, will have its record-setting sprinter, Ken Abbott, available Saturday. Abbott, a transfer from Birmingham's Woodlawn High School, was ineligible for the recent Southeastern Interscholastics at Emory.

Other top men on the GMA team, which will engage North Carolina freshmen and Staunton Military Academy in a triangular meet at Chapel Hill Friday, are Sonny Martin, Pat Sosebee, Autley Newton, Grady Weatherly, Jack Smith, Ralph Baker, Jesse Wacker and Rolfie Pinkerton.

Athens' entry will compete in the high school division and be paced by three of the best swimmers in the south. They are backstroke Tommy Blakely, who set a new record in winning his specialty in the Southeastern two weeks ago; breaststroke Bobby Langley, another Southeastern winner, and freestyler Jim Hataway, the team captain. Pinkerton of GMA and Hataway finished one-two at Emory in the 100.

Big Leagues Nix College Demands

Refuse To Sign 'No Raid' Agreement With Schools

HAMILTON, N.Y., Feb. 15 (AP)—College baseball men, turned down once more in their efforts to effect a "no raiding" agreement with the major leagues, will try again next July. If they don't succeed then, they're ready to put up a heck of a fight against the pros.

In the furor over the players' pensions, it wasn't publicized that the colleges received another turndown at the Jan. 30 meetings of the National and American Leagues. They submitted a resolution calling upon professional baseball to refrain from signing or negotiating with college players once they had commenced their sophomore year.

The National League voted 5-3 against the resolution while the American tabled it until the July meeting—an action regarded as encouraging by College's Eppy Barnes.

Barnes, chairman of the National Collegiate A. A. baseball committee, said today that baseball commissioner Ford C. Frick and the two league presidents, Warren Giles and Will Harridge, had assured him they were in favor of such a resolution and feel that something must be done to promote baseball on the college level.

If the July effort fails to produce an agreement, Barnes is prepared to recommend certain counter-measures to the NCAA. They are:

1. Submit the resolution to the American Council on Education to try to have all the college presidents endorse the move.
2. Issue a public statement that scouts and representatives of pro baseball teams no longer are welcome on college campuses.
3. Request that baseball be treated similarly to college football and basketball under draft procedures.
4. Revive the program of asking state legislatures to pass laws restricting contract agreements with under-age players.

Fifth District Play Opens At Stone Mt. Tonight

Clarkston's boys' basketball team got a morale boost last week if nothing else when it won the DeKalb County basketball tournament over Druid Hills. And the Angoras may need more than that if they defend their Fifth District Class B title successfully.

Coach Jim Owens' boys and six other teams began action tonight at the Stone Mountain gym in district play.

Clarkston may expect its biggest competition from Conyers High. Conyers lost only one game over the regular season and its wins included two over Clarkston.

Tucker's defending girls' champions haven't been too potent this season and won't be any match for the tough Stone Mountain girls who were upset in the finals of the DeKalb County event by Southwest DeKalb. The Stone

Hoge's Wife Watches Latest Hole-in-One

By Jimmy Mann

THERE'S NO doubt about who wears the golfing spikes in the Bill Hoge family. And the little Hoge lady didn't just hear about husband Bill's fourth hole-in-one at Druid Hills last week—she saw it.

The Hoges, playing with Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Jones, had finished five holes without any startling success. But things changed on the tricky third.

Bill soared a six-iron that plopped on the green and rolled in the hole for his ace. It was the first such success at Druid Hills but he has done the same thing on two other courses.

"I had one in Florida some time ago," said Bill, and on the Seacrest Golf Course in Louisville, Ky. I got lucky and ace the same hole twice."

It may be luck but Mrs. Hoge is convinced, he's tops in that family. In my family too!

ABE MASSAR is not very popular around Bobby Jones lately, especially after his Sunday exhibition.

Starting with the first hole Massar proceeded to drive opponents Emmet Wilson and Bill Ames nuts. He had birdies on the first, third, fourth and fifth holes and lipped an under-par nudge from five feet on the sixth hole. He finished the nine-hole tour with a three-under-33. But partner Jack Hodgkins chipped in a bird three on the ninth to send the twosome to 32, best ball.

Brother, that's too good for anybody.

DRUID HILLS' PRO Charlie Miller enters St. Joseph's Hospital today for an operation on his knee. He will spend one week in the hospital then several weeks at home resting. "But it's nothing serious," laughs Charlie. . . . Harry Bernatz, one of Druid Hills' more talented players, injured his hand in a Labor Day tournament and played his first round since then last week. He played with Jim Broome. . . . A. J. Stine had his lowest in a lifetime at Bobby Jones Sunday and he didn't mind telling everybody, a 40 on the front side. He finished with 46 on the back to set another new Stine mark, first time under 90. . . . J. E. Nash posted the lowest round at East Lake over the weekend, a 70. And his effort enabled his team of A. P. McElroy, Bill Leide and Scott Hogg to take the doggie purse. . . . Mr. and Mrs. R. Linderman and Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Gunnell captured the dog and cat prize. . . . Charlie Edwards has been buzzing around West End. Edwards has his members participating in a week-long hole-in-one contest on the ninth hole and also in a three-month long ringer tournament. If you think that ninth hole is easy listen to this. Out of 18 balls hit Sunday by six players, not one shot landed on the green. Hole-in-one contest? Sounds like green in one test. Jimmy Pinnell leads the early ringer players with three birds. . . . Wilbur Owen and Sam Berry won the blind bogey at West End.

DOWN, NOT OUT—COLUMBUS, Ga., Feb. 15—Chico Vejar, welterweight TV boxing star and now a private at Fort Benning, is shown in a hospital here after he received facial lacerations and a possible broken jaw when his light, private plane crashed near here today. Vejar was piloting the plane.

Newhouser Attempts Mound Comeback

Greenberg Gives Ex-Tiger Chance To 'Remake Grade'

Lefty Hal Newhouser will try a pitching comeback with the Cleveland Indians.

Thirty-two-year-old Prince Hal made the announcement yesterday, seven months after both he and the Detroit Tigers agreed he was through after 15½ major league seasons in which he compiled a 200-147 mark.

Cleveland General Manager Hank Greenberg, an old Newhouser teammate, is giving him the chance. Every other big league club waived on the left-hander.

Newhouser has been working out in Bradenton, Fla., for the past month and will join the Indians at their Tucson, Ariz., camp on Feb. 24. He said he will not talk contract with the Tribe until he is convinced he can make the grade.

Newhouser drew around $65,000 in 1944-45, when his record was 29-9, 25-9 and 26-9.

Boston Red Sox Manager Lou Boudreau sent three veterans and 12 younger players through the first workout of a preseason "rookie" school at Sarasota, Fla. The veterans were pitcher Joe Dobson, catcher Gus Niarhos and outfielder Hoot Evers—all of whom have signed. Missing from the group invited for these early-bird drills were left-handed pitcher Bill Henry and bonus catcher Larry Isbell. Henry hasn't come to terms yet and Isbell's whereabouts is a camp mystery. The former Baylor University football star never answered the club's invitation. Watching from the sidelines was veteran Billy Goodman, still listed among the unsigned.

St. Louis Cardinals Manager Eddie Stanky got a first-hand look at his two $100,000 rookies—shortstop Alex Grammas and first baseman Tom Alston. Grammas, acquired from Cincinnati last winter, and Alston, first baseman and first Negro to make the Cardinals roster.

SIGNERS: New York Giants—outfielders Jim (Dusty) Rhodes and Harvey Gentry and pitcher Harry Nicholas; Philadelphia Athletics—catchers Joe Astroth and Mike Sandlock; Cleveland Indians—second baseman Bob Avila and outfielder Al Smith; Chicago White Sox—pitcher Vito Valentinetti; Detroit Tigers—first baseman Walt Dropo; Chicago Cubs—pitcher Paul Minner; Boston Red Sox—outfielder Karl Olson and pitcher Tom Herrin; Baltimore Orioles—first baseman Dick Kryhoski and pitcher Jehosie Heard.

Indians Play 34

CLEVELAND (AP)—The Cleveland Indians' spring training schedule lists 34 games, all against major league teams.

3-AA Girls Launch Tournament Tonight

Region 3-AA's girls' basketball tournament opens at Smith and North Fulton tonight, but the most successful athletic team in Southwest High history will not start play until tomorrow.

A triple-header at the North Fulton court sends Fulton against Smith at 6 p.m., Sylvan against Brown at 7:30 and West Fulton against Roosevelt at 9. A double-

Northside is playing as the tenth-ranked team in the final standings, instead of being seeded third after finishing in that position, after it was ruled by Sam Burke, GHSA secretary in Thomaston, that Susan Walker, a substitute guard, was ineligible to play in six loop games. Those six games were forfeited. She was a transfer student.

header on Smith hardwood opens at 7:30 with Bass meeting O'Keefe. Murphy and Northside will play the nightcap.

Coach Howard Brenner's Southsides are the rage of the city. They have written record files for their school which are:

1. First championship team.
2. First to win a City League title.
3. First unbeaten team.
4. Produced record-breaking city scorer.

Record-breaking city scorer is Delores Waits, who stands only five feet, three inches.

This diminutive doll scored 336 points in 12 games this year for a new league mark. That's a 28 per game average, five points better than her average last year which was also high for the city.

1. Highest game average in last year's tourney with 21.7.
2. Highest scorer of 1953 tourney—75 points.

O'Keefe's Bill Salter Cops Scoring Crown

Posts City Average of 18.2; Murphy and Marco Follow

Big Bill Salter, playing only part-time and shooting only 10 points in his final Region 3-AA game against Grady last week, coasted to the 1954 City League high school basketball scoring championship with an average game output of 18.2 points.

The six-five O'Keefe center, who has hit "big" only in his team's tough games all year, fired 218 points in a dozen regular-season league outings.

The 195-pound senior made all-state a year ago after The Constitution-sponsored GIAA tournament in which he shot 36 points in barely more than three quarters of one game.

Only other player to score more than 200 points in 12 region games was Fred Murphy, fabulous 16-year-old Fulton sophomore. Murphy finished with a 21-point stin against Southwest, had 203 over all points and a 16.9 average for a second-place finish.

There was little change in the standings from the previous week. Those who bettered their finishes with exceptional final-game efforts include Murphy's Paul Cochran, 30 points against Bass; North Fulton's Hal Blackmar, 27 against Northside; Smith's Bobby Braden, 23 against Roosevelt; O'Keefe's Farrell Farr, 22 against Grady; Northside's Lester Simerville, 21 against North Fulton; Brown's Don Hartfield and Charlie Wooddall, 21 and 19 against Sylvan, and Southwest's Jimbo Towner, 15 against Fulton.

North Fulton's Joe Marco finished in third place with a 16.1 average. Rounding out the top ten are Wooddall and Smith's Gilbert Adair (16.4 each), North Fulton's Joe DeLany (15.2), Bass' Harry Lockwood and Hartfield (14.9 each), Roosevelt's Jack Bush (14.3) and Smith's Bobby Keenan (14.0).

Opening lead: King of hearts. We are many times called upon to answer in the abstract the question, "Is the singleton a desirable opening lead?" Needless to say, we are not in position to give a direct answer. Under certain conditions the lead of a singleton is ideal. The conditions are these: (1) Defender has quick control of the trump suit, such as the ace or the well-guarded king. This is to guard against the declarer's extracting trumps at once and running off with the hand. (2) Defender has surplus little trumps that would otherwise have no particular value. (3) Defender has the reasonable expectancy of entering partner's hand to obtain the desired ruff. Where, however, the defender holds at least four trumps, ruffs should not generally be sought. In that case, an effort should be made to weaken declarer's trumps by leading the longest and most solid suit.

Where the lead of a singleton is indicated, it should usually be made at the earliest opportunity. It is much easier for partner to diagnose it as singleton if it is led at once than if it is shifted to.

Failure to lead a singleton at the earliest opportunity worked out in a strange manner in today's hand and permitted declarer to make a neat play to prevent a ruff. West opened the king of hearts and received the encouraging nine from his partner. He promptly shifted to the three of diamonds. This was a clearly marked singleton, and it was evident that West intended to obtain the lead with the ace of trumps and put partner in with a heart to obtain the ruff for the setting trick.

Declarer therefore looked for a way to prevent East from getting the lead. The method which he hit upon was neat but not the gaudy. He won the second trick with the jack of diamonds and led the king of clubs. He was quite sure that West held the ace. On the king of clubs he discarded his remaining heart and West was in, with no way of communicating with his partner. Note that if the singleton had been led at the opening, there would have been no way for South to break communication between the defenders' hands.

A Rhyme a Day

"The marriage relationship is a contractual alliance and what either partner has done in the past should in no way affect the new organization."—Article quote.

Regardless of one's cult or creed . . . the "faith that's like a mustard seed" . . . must be the larger portion of . . . our lives; faith in the ones we love . . . and, sometimes, faith in those we doubt . . . may bring some hidden virtue out.

And that's why everyone should strive . . . to keep the vital spark alive . . . particularly married men . . . who ask their wives where they have been . . . what they have done, with whom they went . . . and how much money they have spent.

Then, if the answer he receives . . . is something that he disbelieves . . . the confidence he once enjoyed . . . is either weakened or destroyed . . . and, on the other hand, if she . . . prides into what he used to be . . . her faith, once solid as a rock . . . will pulverize beneath the shock.

"We walk by faith and not by sight" . . . the Good Book says, and that is right . . . not many marriages would last . . . if both of them revealed their past.

86 Different Diseases Conveyed by Animals

There are 86 different diseases transmissible by animals to man. Some come from direct contact with the infected animal whereas others stem from contaminated or infected food, milk, or water. Insects or rodents also play a role in shuttling infection from animals to man.

These conditions are known as zoonoses and veterinarians and health officers agree that the problem is best handled by eliminating infection at the source.

According to Dr. Oscar Sussman, 20 of the diseases are due to a virus. Of this group, rabies is best known; it affects all warm-blooded animals and usually is passed to man thru the bite of a rabid animal.

Other viral diseases contracted from animals and birds are cowpox from cows; sleeping sickness from horses; lymphocytic choriomeningitis (an influenza-like disease) from the common house mouse, and psittacosis from parrots, parakeets, pigeons, and chickens. Some of these organisms are picked up via direct contact; others, thru the bite of a flea or tick that initially lived on an animal and then lit on a man. There also are a large number of rickettsial infections. The carrier is a tick that has sucked the blood of infected cattle, sheep, goats, dogs, or a wild animal.

A number of dysenteries are traceable to bacterial diseases of animals. They are communicated to man by eating eggs, meat, or poultry that has not been cooked sufficiently. Innumerable fungal

Lie Detector Is Useful Aid in Paternity Suits

Lois P., aged 18, is a very dangerous girl, though most young men would never suspect it.

She has been running around to taverns with married men, although she had a high school boy friend named Harry, who is now 19.

Lois felt elated at the attentions of men who were 30 or 35, even though the latter were married.

And they soon learned that she was especially vulnerable on the matter of age. She wanted to be a sophisticated adult woman.

Consequently, they began to demand unwarranted liberties and when Lois protested, they soon coerced her to their wishes by making her think that virtue was a childish "Sunday school" idea.

DECEITFUL LOIS

But when Lois found she was going to have a baby, then she grew panicky. She knew her parents would raise the roof.

So she suddenly began to cultivate faithful Harry, and after a few dates with him, she told her parents that Harry was the cause of her condition.

Her parents then threatened Harry and demanded that he marry their daughter. In fact, her father was going to have a shotgun wedding.

Harry was certainly on the spot. Thousands of American teenagers have been forced into marriages by this type of deception on the part of a scared girl.

Harry thought he was being gallant and noble, so he agreed to marry Lois, although he said he would never live with her thereafter.

But Harry's uncle was an attorney who had heard a lot of rumor about the "affairs" which Lois had been having with certain married men of the community.

So Harry's uncle entered the case and forbade Harry's marriage until both Harry and Lois had taken the lie detector test.

Lois didn't show much enthusiasm for the idea, but Harry's uncle persuaded her parents to have her submit to it.

BRAVO, LIE DETECTOR

And the "lie detector" immediately proved that Lois was lying when she had accused Harry of being the father of her unborn baby.

So a gross injustice was prevented by means of this modern scientific aid for our courts.

About a year ago I was invited by the University of Tennessee College of Law to participate in a symposium on the value of the "lie detector" machine in American court procedure.

And one of the salient points brought out in that discussion was the remarkable aid in so-called "bustard" cases, which is how today's problem is legally described.

Humiliation to thousands of innocent men and their respectable families in the local community can quickly be eliminated by use of the "lie detector."

For if it clearly and immediately shows the innocence of the accused in about 80 per cent of cases.

In about 20 per cent of dubious or uncertain cases, further evidence and more detailed methods may be necessary to get at the true facts.

But the lie detector ranks beside modern fingerprinting as a great scientific aid to crime detection, as many innocent men like Harry can gratefully attest.

Stress Closes City, Rural Church Link

Need for closer cooperation between town and country churches was stressed at the first Town and Country Workshop for North Georgia Methodist pastors yesterday at Emory University, and a plan to increase cooperation was presented.

The "group ministry" plan, by which pastors of both the town and rural churches of the same denomination within a natural area would work together in a council, was discussed and is expected to be adopted by both the North and South Georgia Methodist Conferences.

Each council would be composed of the pastors of all the Methodist churches in a community and four laymen—an adult man, an adult woman and two young people.

Council members would study the needs of the community and determine the areas where their cooperative efforts could achieve the most good.

One purpose of the plan, according to Dr. Glenn Sanford, superintendent of the Department of National Missions, Department of Town and Country Work, New York, is to enable all churches in an area to receive the benefits of the good leadership in each church.

Scout Rushing To Get 22 Badges in 7 Months

A Marietta Boy Scout who already has earned 76 of scouting's possible 98 badges is rushing against time to earn the remaining 22 before he reaches the age limit of 24. Lester Dattler of Rt. 1, Marietta, who will reach the limit in seven months, said the hardest task facing him is to build a radio receiving set which will qualify him for the radio badge. He plans a trip to Wisconsin soon to work on his qualifications for the skiing badge.

Lester already holds the rank of Eagle in the Boy Scouts and the Explorer's Silver Award.

'Illegal Parking' Damages Upheld By Appeals Court

The State Court of Appeals has upheld a Wayne County Superior Court verdict that awarded damages to a person injured in an automobile wreck when the car in which he was riding struck an illegally parked truck in Jesup.

J. W. Williams, whose arm was mangled in the accident on Christmas Eve of 1951, sued Forest C. Harper, owner of the truck, and was awarded $10,000 damages. The trial testimony included allegations that the truck was parked in violation of Jesup city ordinances.

The Court of Appeals upheld the lower court in overruling a motion for new trial.

'Politics' Charged On Zoning

By MARJORY SMITH

A charge of "politics" in a recent zoning decision of the Municipal Planning Board was hurled yesterday during a stormy session of the Aldermanic Board.

Fourth Ward Alderman Douglas Wood made the charge as the aldermen overruled an adverse recommendation of the planning board and approved re-zoning of property at Boulevard and Edgewood Ave., SE, from "residential" to "business."

The Aldermanic Board voted eight to seven against a proposal to refer back to the planning board a petition by Roy M. Crain to change the zoning in order that a filling station could be built on the site.

Wood, who favored re-zoning, declared "politics was involved" in the planning board's adverse decision.

Alderman James Jackson, opposing re-zoning, said property owners had been fighting re-zoning for years. Jackson said he had been told "a trucking industry" was trying to get into the area and said the zoning change would be an opening wedge. Jackson added:

"Mr. Wood seems to be terribly interested in getting this property re-zoned—why I don't know."

Alderman Hamilton Douglas Jr., urging that the matter be referred back to the planning board, insisted that zoning matters "are city-wide affairs and go beyond ward boundaries."

Alderman Milton Farris, however, declared final authority on zoning matters rested with the Aldermanic Board.

"The general principle is whether we will recognize ward courtesy or let the zoning council dictate to us," he said. The zoning group is only an advisory board."

New Job Classification

The Atlanta Personnel Board, in a "compromise decision," yesterday voted to set up a job classification which may enable the Police Department to retain the services of a temporary employee who has been the object of a controversy over civil service regulations.

The board acted on appeal of Chief Herbert Jenkins and Alderman Ed Gilliam, police committee chairman. Jenkins is seeking to keep on his payroll a man who has served as a temporary relief jailer for the past 12 months but has not qualified for the job. Carl Sutherland, personnel department director, told Jenkins the temporary jailer will be given another chance to qualify under a new classification.

A public hearing on the proposed revocation of a permit held by Southern Gas Corp. to operate an artificial gas plant at 1039 Boulevard, SE, will be held at 2 p.m. Thursday before a joint session of the Board of Firemasters and the city's electric lights and buildings committee.

Stop Phoned Narcotics Orders, Druggists Told

The U.S. Narcotics Bureau yesterday warned Fulton and DeKalb County pharmacists that the issuing of narcotics prescriptions on telephone orders "has gotten out of hand" and must cease.

An agent making a spot check of retail drugstores in the area found evidence that the practice has become widespread. T. W. McGeever, district bureau supervisor, said.

Copies of orders on unsigned prescription blanks were found, he said, indicating narcotics had been dispensed at the request of doctors by telephone.

"It was the intention of the druggist to send these unsigned prescriptions to the physicians for their signatures," McGeever explained.

FEDERAL LAW

The federal narcotics law of 1916 expressly prohibits dispensing narcotics without a signed prescription, he said, and persisting violations will be brought to the attention of the U.S. district attorney.

In the wake of McGeever's warning, a spokesman for the Fulton County Medical Society said he believed doctors would dislike seeing the law so rigidly enforced, especially in view of the fact that doctors do not abuse the law.

FAMILY SERVICE OFFICERS, SPEAKER

Immaturity Held Chief Handicap in Marriage

The most prevalent and pressing family problems in America are due to the immaturity of husbands and wives, Clark Blackburn, executive director of the Family Service Association of America, said here yesterday.

"Every family should have at least one grownup in it," Blackburn said lightly, "and it's even better if both husband and wife are mature."

He said the chronological age of the individual has little, if anything, to do with his maturity, and that many youngsters develop faster and assume their responsibility better than a great many older couples.

MACKAY ELECTED

Blackburn was here to address the annual meeting of the Family Service Society of Fulton and DeKalb counties. James A. Mackay, Atlanta attorney, was elected president of the society to succeed Frederick Storey.

Other officers named were Dr. Bernard Wolff, first vice president; Dr. Ellen Finley Kiser, second vice president; Joe Hyam, treasurer, and Mrs. Raymond Crispell, secretary.

New board members named were Mrs. Ivan Allen Jr., Mrs. Malon Courts, Miss Mary L. DeGivie, Mrs. Carter Harrison, J. C. Haynes, Gordon Jones, the Rev. Cecil Myers, William J. Nettles, Mrs. Frank Ridley and Paul Seydell.

Blackburn said the present upsurge in interest in domestic problems does not mean that they are any more prevalent but merely that mores have changed since the Victorian era and couples are willing to seek help to preserve their marriage. He said he felt that Family Service societies over the country have a record of about 60 per cent success in counselling troubled husbands, wives and children.

The speaker commended the local agency on its development and particularly on the acquisition of its new offices at 893 Piedmont Ave. The trouble taken to safeguard the privacy of those seeking help is of paramount value, he said.

Atlanta GI Testifies at Trial of PW

Pfc. Julius Barber, of Atlanta, stationed at Ft. Jay, N.Y., was among the many prosecution witnesses yesterday at Ft. Leavenworth in the court-martial of a 28-year-old Chicago GI, Pfc. Rothwell B. (Tiny) Floyd, charged with murdering two fellow PWs in Korea.

Pfc. Barber told the court that Floyd, whom witnesses pictured as a bulky and black market operator, stole his food and once charged him $5 for a spoonful of salt.

During Barber's testimony, a heated exchange was touched off when defense lawyers asked Barber if he aided his Chinese Communist captors while in the prison camp.

Barber refused to answer and shot back, "Who's on trial here, Floyd or me?"

Rigid enforcement of the law will mean an inconvenience to the druggists and patients as well, Dr. Turner said.

Sometimes build up Physicians sign the telephone order prescriptions as soon as they are sent from the drugstores and mail them back immediately, he added. However, druggists may sometimes allow the orders to build up, he said.

McGeever said he was told by one pharmacist that he would lose business by refusing to honor telephone orders, but added that the Georgia Pharmaceutical Assn. has pledged co-operation in correcting the situation.

Henry A. King, fifth district president of the pharmaceutical group, said "any existing laxities" would be stopped.

Fulton Asks To Widen Piedmont

The Fulton County Commission offered yesterday to undertake the job of widening Piedmont road to take care of expressway traffic.

In a resolution offered by Commissioner I. Gloer Hailey, the group agreed to ask the State Highway Department to award the county a contract to widen Piedmont from Buford highway to Peachtree road.

Hailey said Mayor Hartsfield has tentatively agreed to his plan. The mayor was on his way to Washington, D.C., last night and could not be reached for comment.

"CAN'T WAIT"

"We can't wait for completion of the expressway," Hailey said. "The bottleneck on Piedmont plays havoc with traffic in the northeast section."

The resolution also calls upon the City of Atlanta to obtain the necessary right-of-way for the project immediately.

The county commission voted to include the Piedmont project, if it is approved by the state in its 1954 road program.

OKAY PROJECTS

The commission approved all the road and bridge projects recommended by A. T. McDonald, county public works director, and then added seven more stretches of road to be improved "if time and funds permit."

The new projects include paving 1.5 miles of Mell road from State Route 141 to Boles road;

3.73 miles of Cedar Grove road from Cochran Mill road to River town; 2.15 miles of Hemlock road from State Route 9 to Birmingham-Crabapple road; 3.5 miles of Houze road from Crossville road to Birmingham-Crabapple road;

3.7 miles of Johnson road from Creekwood road to Palmetto; one mile of Northside drive from Powers Ferry road to Heards Ferry road, and 3.2 miles of Providence road from the end of the present pavement to Birmingham-Crabapple road.

Photography Color Clinic Slated Today

Mrs. Margo Kent Zink—who holds more honors in photography than most women will gain in a lifetime—will be featured speaker today as the second session of the Southeastern Photographers Association gets underway.

Mrs. Zink, operator of a studio in Staunton, Va., will head the color clinic of the association. She will illustrate her discussion of color photography with exhibits and will also discuss the use of heavy or transparent oils in portrait work.

Today's session will also feature a discussion on composition and lighting for color portraiture by John Platz, who won fame as a portrait photographer and now a member of the staff of the Eastman Kodak Company.

Juanita Shope will head a re-touching clinic in the morning and Bob Kohn, of Miami, will give a lecture on commercial tricks of the trade.

Highlight of the day-long meeting will be a dance in the Dinkler Plaza ballroom headlined by Tony Pastor and his orchestra. Dance will be preceded by the annual banquet. This year's awards will be made during the dinner.

River Projects To Get Closer Study, Expert Says

By JIM FINSON

Public power and water resources projects won't be "thrown out the window" by the Eisenhower administration but future federal funds will be dispensed systematically rather than "pork barrel" style, a conservation expert said here last night.

W. W. Horner of St. Louis, a member of the Hoover Commission panel studying the country's water resources, is in Atlanta for a meeting of the American Society of Civil Engineers. He said the Hoover group is making a study of public projects in order to devise a plan for eliminating "haphazard appropriation of the taxpayer's money."

PROPOSE YARDSTICK

He said the group, under the personal supervision of the former President, who is a civil engineer, hopes to recommend in May the following yardstick to be used by Congress in allocating funds:

(1) What constitutes a justifiable public project? (2) Who should pay for the project—federal government, state or municipality? (3) What principles should be used to determine what projects merit top priority?

Commenting on the continuing battle of Georgians for funds to complete the Buford Dam, Horner said he feels that greater efficiency would be effected if entire appropriations for such projects were made at the outset rather than piecemeal.

1,000 EXPECTED

About 1,000 members of the civil engineers' society, including some 400 engineering students and faculty advisers, are expected to attend the three-day meeting which opens officially at the Bilt-

Some Say Williamsburg, Some Say Greenwich Village, But It's So Livable

Antiques Highlight Rabbi's Home

By DOTTY LUNDY

Being an only grandchild surely has its advantages, especially when you have a new house to furnish. Mrs. Jacob M. Rothschild found that out six years ago.

She got her love for antiques from her New England grandfather along with many fine old pieces he had collected through the years.

"Dramatic brunette Mrs. Rothschild is the wife of the Rabbi of The Temple. 'I met the Rabbi, who's from Pittsburgh, on a tennis court,' laughs Mrs. Rothschild.

"It's not the general custom for Reform Jewish congregations to furnish homes for their Rabbis. My husband had an apartment when we were married and we bought the house afterwards. I guess it's Williamsburg, at least the windows are," she went on.

If a congregation likes the Rabbi and the feeling is mutual, it's not unusual for him to stay in one place for life, she explained.

MADE INSTRUMENTS

Mrs. Rothschild's grandfather, who manufactured musical instruments, would buy a chair or a table at an auction, thinking he would turn the piece into a violin or a cello. Then he'd get attached to it and couldn't bear to cut it up. "I can just see a violin back in my hall table top, that he never had the heart to cut," she added.

The living room is painted a delicate shade of white, green and amber. Draperies are moire and the carpet coral. A huge oil of "Judith and Holofernes" guards the sofa, a copy of an old master that a forebear of Mrs. Rothschild's brought over from Hungary. "A bit gory, but I'm fond of it," the tall, slim homemaker says. Her grandmother's wedding fan adorns the mantel, flanked by dainty ivories.

Rabbi and Mrs. Rothschild built the shelves separating the living room and dining room which frame antique Irish Beldie plates. Matching gateleg tables have an odd assortment of legs—four. Her mahogany chest-on-chest is a registered antique.

CHOCOLATE HALLWAY
Mrs. Rothschild points with pride at her two silver Sabbath candlesticks which belonged to a great-great-grandfather. His son-in-law was Rabbi of one of the first Reform Jewish congregations in America.

A chocolate hallway opens to the children's rooms. "Some people say our room is Williamsburg, some say it's Greenwich Village," laughs Mrs. Rothschild. By any name, it's lovely and livable. Walls are a deep blue with blue toile draperies, slipper chair and headboard. Colors came from Meissen egg cups and an old Chinese plaque.

The couple added a closet, recessing their work desk. Mrs. Rothschild outfitted a spice chest into a lamp. The base provides choice cubbyholes for bobby pins and the usual dressing table "litter." An expansive mirror opposite reflects Mrs. Rothschild a great part of the day, summoning "fellow club members to do things."

Downstairs the pine-paneled playroom is the favorite haunt of Marcia, 6, and Billy, 5, and Smokey, the pup. It also forms a rustic background for her grandfather's collection of pewter plates, spoons and teapots.

Celestine Sibley

Armchair Sportswoman

A young woman called me up and asked me to address the faculty of her school on the benefit of athletics for girls. Being one of those people who'd rather say yes than no I had practically accepted before I did what is known as a double take and said, "WHAT did you say?"

Athletics, she said. Her school was very much interested in turning out physically fit graduates along with the requisite number of brainy ones. And they thought I might have a message on the subject. I assured her she had the wrong person on the line and I offered to switch her to the sports department where she could find lots of athletic-minded gentlemen, most of whom would consider it a privilege to talk about anything at any time to a bunch of pretty girls.

But she insisted that I think it over and I've been thinking it over and alternately weeping for a misapplied life and chortling happily that I've managed to live all these years with a minimum of physical exertion.

To begin with, I tried to make a list of all the sports I had ever engaged in. It was a very sad effort. In Creola, Ala., our country club-type activity consisted of penning up the goats on a winter evening or racing Po' Jack, and Cooter's young uns from the quarters to the planer mill.

In the spring we swung bullace vines across a big ditch up the grove. (This in the full light of day, of course, because it became dark and spooky in there at dusk and the hollow was known to be haunted by a headless woman who wandered about moaning for her lost head. How she accomplished this I don't know but in those days we didn't question. We accepted all ghost stories as they were told to us and got in the house at nightfall.)

But obviously, I couldn't address a group of athletic-minded young women on the benefits to be derived from swinging on bullace vines and running from headless spooks. So I racked my brain for some recognized sport. We did swim in the mill pond and paddle a broad-sterned little rowboat around. (Swimming and boating have a nice civilized sound, I think, but they're not really organized.)

What organized sport do I know about? Well, there's football but then it's not for girls. We did play a form of baseball known as "scrub" at Creola Grammar School but even in high school that was snooted and I know I couldn't talk it up to a bunch of collegians. The basketball courts were cold in the spring time and I never knew about tennis, principally because there wasn't anybody at the mill pond who wasn't too old or too young for such a lively cavorting about. A fast game of croquet was about all Grandpa Edgett felt like walking through and he was the only person on the place with leisure for playing.

Of course, we rode horseback a lot—any time the woods rider wasn't using the horse—but I learned early that it wasn't the kind of riding they did at the Bit and Spur Club. (I'll never forget the frosty horsewoman who asked me about old Nancy's gait. I kept thinking she meant the gate to the barnyard.)

I guess it's pretty plain I'm not the one to tell anybody about the benefits of athletic endeavor. And still I hate to confess utter ignorance. Has anybody got any good books on lacrosse or ice hockey?

Country Suits Go 'Citified'

By AGNES McCARTY
City slickness has finally come to the country suit.

Designer Arthur Jablow's spring and summer collection, now available in Atlanta, includes many colorful country tweeds with a smooth, sophisticated finish that makes them citified as soot.

FLECKED TWEED
An elegant three-piece ensemble has a fitted jacket of sheer, beautifully flecked tweed. Collarless jacket is softened with a chiffon scarf.

Under the tweed is a two-piece sheath dress of thin wool worsted. Dress picks up color of tweed. Colors include black and white tweed with black sheath dress, beige and tweed jacket with a green sheath dress.

Pure silk, imported from Italy, and yarn dyed to create an unusual flecked texture is used in a suit that's perfect for spring weddings—bride or guest. Suit has jeweled buttons and accents of velvet at the collarless neckline and three-quarter sleeves. A big silk taffeta rose is perched high on one shoulder. Colors include grey, brown and navy.

PICTURE COLLARS
Some of Jablow's suits feature picture-frame collars, emphasizing a low, deep neckline. Often linen fill-ins are used.

Fitted coats are usually collarless with flared skirts. Elbow-length sleeves are favored and fabrics used are light-cream colors.

Woman Invades Infantry Ranks

FORT BENNING, Ga. Jan. 22. Even the U.S. Infantry is no longer exclusive 40 men.

Talk about mortars, a battalion in retrograde movements, terrain evaluation and counterfire techniques and Mrs. Ida C. Evans, an Infantry School employee at Fort Benning, will appall veteran Infantrymen with her knowledge of Army terms and capabilities.

GRADES LESSONS

For the past three years, Mrs. Evans of 17 Eddy Drive, Benning Hills, Columbus, has analyzed and graded Army extension course lessons at the Infantry

School. She is as familiar with the M-10 plotting board to determine firing data for mortars as she is with her kitchen range.

Because she puts only her initials on the lessons she checks few Army extension course students know that a woman tallies up their scores.

Mrs. Evans grades the lessons of 24 sub-courses in the four series offered by the Non-Resident Instruction Department's Army Extension Course Group.

Among her sub-courses are heavy weapons, tank and heavy mortar companies in defense, reinforced Infantry battalion in attack, supervision of tactical wheel vehicle operation and maintenance, combat supply and evacuation of the Infantry battalion, chemical, biological and radiological warfare, counterfire organization and techniques, map and aerial photograph reading, troop movement and bivouac, and field artillery in support of Infantry.

TULANE GRADUATE

Mrs. Evans, one of four graders (two officers and two civilians) estimates that she grades an average of 400 lessons a week. These lessons are from U.S. soldiers over the world besides a few from Allied students.

Mrs. Evans, the mother of three children, is a 1928 graduate of Newcomb College in New Orleans, La., followed by two years post-graduate study at Tulane University.

Daughter of a New Orleans professor, she taught mathematics and chemistry in a private school in New Orleans and in Florida high schools.

When she is not laboring over Infantry definitions and tactics, Mrs. Evans finds time to make practically all of her clothes.

"I love to sew and am fond of tailored outfits," she said. "Even with my work and sewing, I like to get out and visit my friends. And another thing, I love to cut hair."

Miss Poulas To Be Wed

Mrs. Andrew Poulos announces the engagement of her daughter, Miss Bess Poulos, to Lt. James Stavrakas, the marriage to take place Feb. 21 at the Greek Orthodox Church.

A graduate of Commercial High School, the bride-elect is secretary to Col. D. S. Hines of Ft. McPherson.

Lt. Stavrakas, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Stavrakas of Somerville, Mass., is intelligence officer at the Atlanta General

Depot. He was repatriated last year after spending 37 months in a Korean prisoner of war camp.

Vincent Nicholas will give his sister-in-law in marriage, and she will be attended by her niece, Miss Betty Routsos.

John Tuntas will be best man, and James Panagos, Clinton Constantinides, Lewis Johnson and Anthony Dinon will usher. The Rev. Pandis Constantinides will officiate.

Sea Calm On School's Tropic Isle

By JEAN ROONEY

Over 100 local business executives and city officials took a "voyage" to the tropics the other day and not a case of sea sickness was reported.

The Good Ship Ed S. Cook serenely transported the distinguished assemblage of Atlantans to "Hawaii."

True to tradition, the vacationing landlubbers were met by dancing girls with leis. They feasted on fresh pineapple.

Responsible for the luxurious voyage were the teachers and student body of Ed S. Cook School on Memorial Drive.

Their annual party honoring the school's friends and benefactors had such an authentic "Hawaiian Voyage" atmosphere, guests expected the "ship" to lurch any minute.

TROPIC SCENES

Tropical isle scenes were painted around the school lunch room by first grade artists. "Pineapples" for table decorations were actually pine cones touched up by seventh grade students.

The rest of the student body was responsible for lush palm trees and exotic flowers that bloomed over the entire school building, according to Miss Alice Cheeseman, enrichment teacher who co-ordinated the event.

CHANTS PRESENTED

A mixed chorus of student singers presented familiar chants of the Islands. But the lyrics were original and expressed thanks to the guests for their kindnesses to the school.

School principal Mrs. Dorothy Floyd officially welcomed the "travelers" to the Golden Isles.

WITH OUR NEGRO COMMUNITY

Newer School Construction
Equalized, Clement Finds

By CLAUDE GEORGE SR.

Dr. Rufus Clement, president of Atlanta University and member of the Atlanta Board of Education, says he has made a partial survey of the city's public school system and is "delighted" to find no differences in white and Negro schools built in recent years.

Dr. Clement, the first Negro to hold public office here since 1871, told a local meeting of the National Association for Advancement of Colored People that he was in the process of making a complete survey of the city system.

"If I am to render the best possible service while on the Board of Education, I would have to know the facts of the educational condition of Atlanta's schools," the educator said.

He admitted to the NAACP that he had found some substantial schools in use, but he made no distinction in his speech as to whether they were white or Negro schools.

Without naming the school, he said he was amazed to find a one-teacher building with no running water and no electric lights within a 10-minute drive from Five Points. (He apparently was referring to the Stewart Avenue School, a Negro building.)

"It is hard for me to believe that such a school building still exists in Atlanta," he declared.

The city school officials are faced with tremendous problems because of overcrowded classrooms, he asserted. Even after the bond program is carried out, the city will need 300 or more classrooms, he said. With a steady increasing population here, he said it appears that the system would have to provide for 13,000 more children by 1956.

Dr. Clement concluded his talk by declaring he was cordially accepted by other members of the education board.

Fraternity Scholarship

The Omega Psi Phi fraternity of Morehouse College led the campus in scholarship during the second semester with an average of 2.92.

Second place went to the Phi Beta Sigmas with a 2.71 average; third spot was taken by the Alpha Phi Alphas with 2.62; and four, Kappa Alpha Psi with 2.56.

Spring 'Y' Drive

The Herndon division of the Boy Scouts has opened its spring drive for re-registration of units at the Butler Street YMCA.

"Not only do we want old units to register," says Scouter Ralph Robinson, "We want new units added this year."

My Family Inc. Office To Change Locations

Headquarters of "My Family, Inc.," a non-profit organization which gives assistance to needy individuals, will be moved from 141 West Davis St. to 826 Church St. in Decatur March 1. Officials of the organization said larger facilities were needed to provide services for the rapidly growing organization.

OPTOMETRISTS
OPTICIANSWITHOUT THIS VITAL MOISTURE
YOUR HAIR CAN "DIE" OF THIRST

Yes, Dermatologists report lost oil-and-moisture balance can be restored to revive "life", lustre, manageability and curl-tendency in dehydrated hair.

Human hair owes its healthy, handsome appearance, its "life", strength and manageability to the fact that, under ideal conditions, it contains and retains as much as 80% moisture that, normally, is "mailed" to the hair by the scalp's natural oils.

This vital moisture and its protective oils evaporate in dry atmospheres, in heated homes and offices, often at a faster rate than the hair can absorb and retain them. Sun and wind, improper drying, waving, curling, dyeing and shampooing practices also dehydrate hair dangerously.

Yes! Today, men and women fight nature by having their hair dyed, fried, burned, baked, raked, permed, peroxided, roasted, toasted, twisted, curled, clamped, cut, trimmed and trampled. They choose and use soaps, detergents, permanent solutions, alcohol-base tonics, bleaches, tints, dyes, dressings, beer, vinegar, chemical rinses, lemon rinses, hot-air blowers, drying machines...the deadliest enemies of hair.

Result, you don't just "wash" and "dry" your hair. You literally DEHYDRATE it. You take out the moisture and natural oils your hair must have, in order to look its healthy, glossy, vigorous best. It takes nature hours, often days, to correct this drab, dry, dehydrated condition. Mere wetting, or dampening your brush won't help. No wonder people's hair looks, acts, feels and is like hay, straw or dehydrated soup!

Is there a substance that can work with, instead of against nature? A substance friendly to hair, instead of its enemy? Science now knows there is. Its name: Lanolin.

Lanolin, which nature itself invented to supply both moisture and oils to hair, not only contains the same constituents as your own natural oils... but ABSORBS MOISTURE TOO!

— That's why lanolin can so amazingly prevent hardening, harshening, coarsening, drying and dehydrating of scalp and hair. — That's why lanolin can so amazingly absorb moisture to correct, protect and control your hair's natural "oil-and-moisture balance."

— That's why lanolin can so amazingly supply the same "esters and cholesterol" (beneficial substances) your own natural oils contain.

That's why lanolin can carry into your scalp and hair both the moisture and the mysterious natural oil ingredients while you take away every time you dehydrate your hair.

In short: Only Lanolin can naturally correct, protect, control and supply both the moisture and natural oils absolutely vital for the vibrant, alive-looking, healthy-looking hair every man and woman wants.

Do soaps, detergents, permanent solutions, alcohol-base tonics, bleaches, tints, dyes, beer, vinegar, chemical rinses or lemon rinses supply this natural combination? No, they were not made nor intended to do so. This is Lanolin's job.

But wait; read carefully. The lanolin we are talking about is not ordinary lanolin.

We are talking about famous Charles Antell Formula 9, made with super-refined, anhydrous lanolin, which dermatologists report, can restore lost oil and moisture balance to revive "life", lustre, manageability and curl tendency in dehydrated hair. Formula 9 has more users, customers and endorsements than any other product in hair history: proof of astounding success.

Because human hair is sexless, Charles Antell's Formula 9 is equally effective in the treatment of dry hair for men and women... so effective that Charles Antell's Formula 9 is today America's number one product for the care of the scalp and hair, with men and with women. No ordinary hair dressing made offers men the good grooming and hair "life" qualities found in Formula 9.

When you shampoo your hair, use Charles Antell Lanolin Shampoo, also. It, too, is made with super-refined lanolin, to cleanse without dehydrating. Formula 9, Cream or Liquid, from 59c. Charles Antell Shampoo, from 59c. Special money saving Formula 9 and Shampoo offers, from $1.35. Available at drug and cosmetic counters everywhere.
